Oil Picture Fuzzy . . . Relief May Be For 2 Months

Washington (UPI) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford said Thursday he expected the Arab oil embargo to be lifted in a day or two. Middle East oil sources said the relief might be announced Sunday on a two-month trial basis.

But a White House official said "we're taking a wait-and-see attitude" in the absence of any official announcement and other sources also hedged the optimistic predictions with cautious qualifiers:

— Ford's press secretary said the vice president had based his forecast "merely on news reports he had heard."

— Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told newsmen "we actually know no more than you ladies and gentlemen" about the reported Arab decision to lift the five-month-old embargo.

— In Tripoli, Libya, the oil sources warned that Libya and Syria might refuse to support the trial lifting of the embargo if, as expected, the oil nations announce it officially Sunday at a conference in Vienna.

— Energy officials said there would be no dramatic drop in gasoline or other petroleum product prices even if the embargo is lifted, although gas pump supplies might increase fairly soon through the release of stockpiled fuel reserves.

— Energy Administrator William Simon said he has enlisted 300 Internal Revenue Service personnel for "vigorous enforcement of all petroleum allocation and price regulations."

— New Jersey filed suit against the Federal Energy Office to get an extra gasoline allocation for the state this month.

Praising "the end of the oil embargo by President Nixon and Secretary Kissinger," Ford said:

"I think there's no question about it . . .

"It's my understanding that the oil embargo has been lifted. The official announcement will come at some later date, a day or two from now."

Ford made his comments on the CBS-TV Morning News.

Some sources had predicted the nine Arab oil ministers would officially announce an end to the embargo, a move urged by Egypt and Saudi Arabia, at the Tripoli conference that ended Wednesday.

No such official announcement emerged, but the oil sources said the Arabs — possibly still opposed by Libya and Syria — decided to endorse Algeria's compromise plan for a two-month trial.

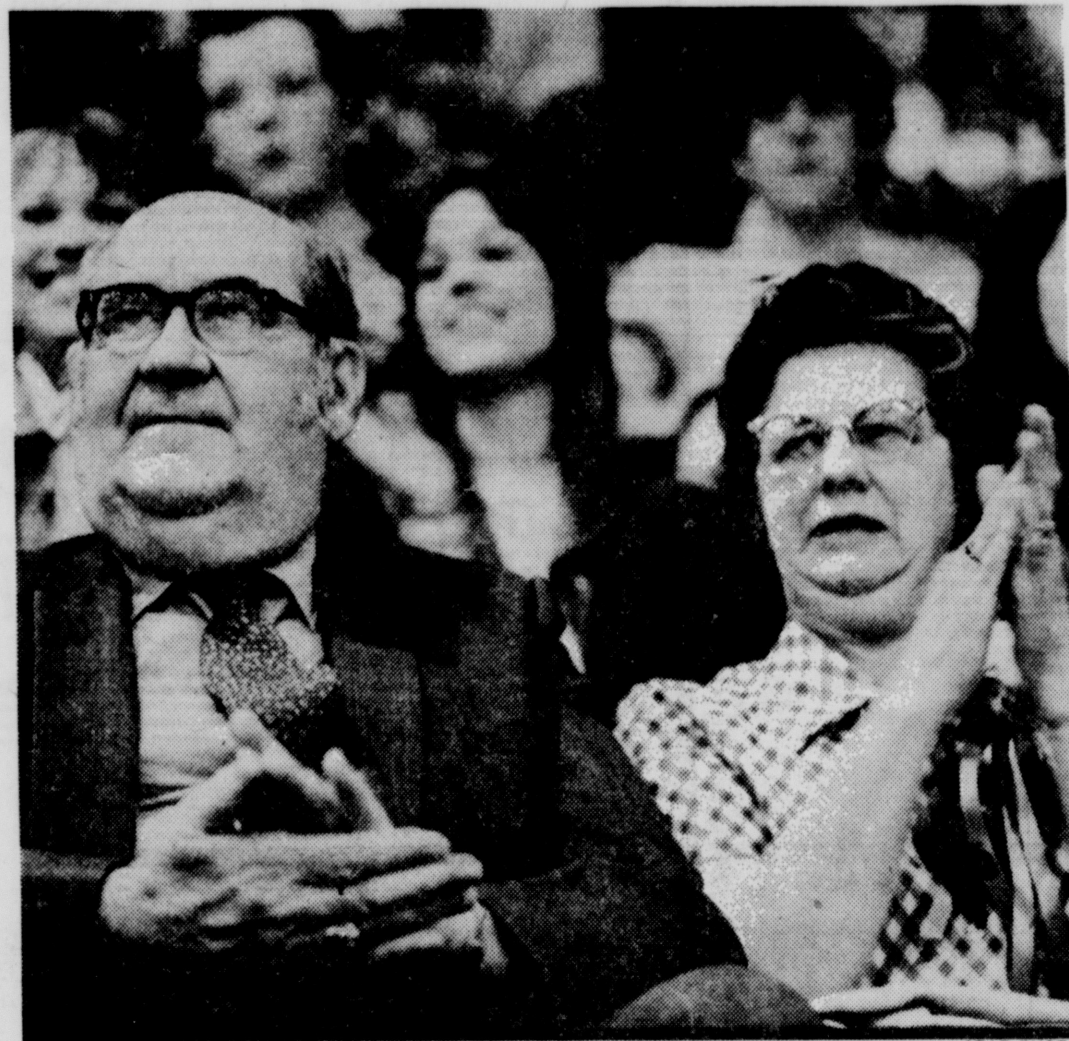

The trial period would be linked to the satisfaction of Arab political objectives, principally including successful U.S. mediation of disengagement of Israeli and Syrian forces along the Golan Heights.

Quoting sources "close to the conference," Libya's Arna news agency said, "Algeria called for a lifting of the oil embargo against the United States for two months on the understanding that the embargo would be reimposed if America did not fulfill its promises during this period."

The oil sources said they expected the Arab oil ministers to announce their compromise plan at Sunday's conference of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries in Vienna. They said shifting the announcement to that locale saved face for Libya.

For the consumer at the gas pump, an end to the embargo would mean relief in the gas tank but not in the pocketbook.

"I wouldn't look for any dramatic changes" in petroleum prices, Deputy Energy Administrator John C. Sawhill told a congressional subcommittee.

Eyes Of The Aksamit Clan (17 Pairs) Are On Pius' 21

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

The eyes of the Aksamit clan — that's 17 pairs of eyes — were upon Pius X's number 21, Artie Aksamit, Thursday night as the Thunderbolts fought off a late threat to beat West Point Central Catholic 55-52 in the first round of the Class B state basketball tournament.

The patriarch of the clan, Arthur Aksamit Sr., breathed a sigh of relief afterwards and whispered a wish that lightning will strike twice in 50 years to give Pius X championship.

It was 1924 when the Thunderbolts won their last state championship, and Arthur and Marie Aksamit are devoutly optimistic that this third try for the championship in as many years will be the charm.

"That's great!" Mrs. Aksamit laughed as the final buzzer sounded ending the game and the tension.

"I hope they do it again Friday," Aksamit said.

"And Saturday, too," his elated wife added.

This tournament is a milestone in a sense for the Aksamits and their eleven children.

Artie, an 18-year-old senior and youngest of the five sons, is playing in his last high school season. His parents said they have attended every one of Artie's football and basketball games and worn Pius' green colors for the last two years in hopes of a championship. They did the same when his older brothers were playing.

But Artie, his father mused hesitantly for fear of slighting the other sons, is the best.

"He's gotten more publicity, and he's had more opportunities to make it," he said.

"They all lettered in football, but Artie lettered in football, basketball, and track as well as playing Legion baseball."

"And besides he was the only one to start playing midget sports when he was ten years old."

Artie almost wasn't able to play basketball this season after he suffered a serious injury requiring an operation during the football season. That's another reason this tournament is so special.

"The doctors said his injury was serious," the elder Aksamit said, "He was disappointed, but it didn't discourage him."

"While he was still in a cast in December, he was talking about the upcoming basketball season."

Aksamit said he and his wife were concerned about Artie playing basketball after he recuperated from the injury. But their concern waned under Artie's determination.

Pointing out at the basketball court, Aksamit said, "That's what he wants to do."

But, even if the Aksamit clan's designs on a basketball title fail this year, there's still hope.

Beside Mrs. Aksamit sat her daughter, Mrs. Diane Blaze, and her three young sons who fidgeted about prior to the tip-off.

And, Aksamit added, he has two other grandsons in grade school who are also playing basketball.

Aksamit himself played football and basketball in his younger days while he was in school in Crete.

But when asked if he felt his sons had done well in carrying on the family tradition of athletics, he replied with typical paternal pride, "They've done better."

Functions Would Go To Other Agencies

. . . Under Committee Advanced Plan

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

In one swift and startling strike, the Appropriations Committee Thursday recommended that the 1974 Legislature dissolve the Department of Public Institutions.

Functions now performed by the 12-year-old agency would be dispersed among other agencies of state government.

DPI's major mental care functions would be divided, with mental health and the three regional centers at Lincoln, Hastings and Norfolk assigned to the Department of Health.

Mental retardation duties, along with the Beatrice State Home, would be transferred to the Department of Education.

Sen. Dave Stahmer of Omaha offered the surprise motion near the conclusion of a seven-hour committee meeting during which three 1974-75 operational budget bills were completed and sent to the floor.

Even more surprisingly — considering the fact that the motion will require introduction of a new bill to reorganize state government only three weeks from conclusion of the current session — the motion was approved on a 7-1 vote.

Voting with Stahmer were Sens. Richard Marvel of Hastings, Robert Clark of Sidney, Herb Nore of Genoa, John Savage of Omaha and Shirley Marsh and Harold Simpson, both of Lincoln.

Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell opposed the action, and Sen. E. Thome Johnson of Fremont declined to vote.

Stahmer said his proposal "has nothing to do with the personalities involved" in what has been a continuing committee dispute with Institutions Director Jack Anderson over funding and planning of mental health and mental retardation programs.

The committee's mental care budget recommendations for 1974-75 were the subject of a critical letter Wednesday from Gov. J. James Exon, and were amended during Thursday's non-stop marathon meeting.

Stahmer said the reorganization of DPI functions would result in "better coordination" of programs.

Clark noted, however, that the state would also acquire "one more private psychiatrist," namely Dr. Anderson.

Among other activities which would be transferred are the alcoholism program, ticketed for the Health Department, and the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute, which would go to the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

During considerable discussion, the committee reached what appeared to be a compromise decision on its mental health budget, providing some of the spending flexibility which Exon requested in this week's letter of criticism.

After a meeting between legislative and executive fiscal aides, the committee decided to specifically earmark only one-

Budget To Floor

Completing work on its 1974-75 operational budget, the Unicameral's Appropriations Committee sent three bills to the floor Thursday. Extra money was approved for several technical community college programs, including a $334,396 increase for the newly created Metropolitan Technical Community College Area.

. . . See story on Page 23 half of its $3,472,500 general fund appropriation for community mental health services.

The other half of the appropriation can be used either for community services or for the regional centers, but the committee's bill will declare the Legislature's intention that it be directed to community services.

The committee's direct general fund appropriation to the regional centers is $7,356,500.

Added to the DPI budget were $600,000 in state tax funds to utilize the regional centers for licensed extended nursing care services (a Stahmer proposal) and $100,000 to begin operation of the proposed new veterans facilities at Scottsbluff.

Total mental health and mental retardation figures approved by the committee exceed Exon's official budget recommendations.

Water In Mars' Air More Than Believed

Moscow (UPI) — A Soviet space capsule has soft-landed on Mars and found there is "several times" more water vapor in the atmosphere of the mysterious red planet than was previously believed. The Tass news agency said Thursday.

Tass said, however, that the probe's radio transmitter went dead before it touched down on the surface. The water vapor discovery was made before landing.

Western space experts said the finding could be of great significance in helping determine if there is life on Mars.

Water is necessary to life, and one of the key questions of interest to scientists is whether there is enough water on Mars to support elementary life forms.

Tass gave no details of the amount of water vapor found, but said it was several times greater over some parts of the Martian atmosphere than the amount reported by the Mars 2 and 3 probes in 1971.

In addition, Tass said the instrument package on Mars has made another important discovery — that Mars has a magnetic field 7 to 10 times stronger than that of interplanetary space.

The news agency said the Mars 6 capsule landed Tuesday, and an earlier attempt to land a capsule from another spacecraft, Mars 7, Saturday failed when the probe malfunctioned.

The descent capsule of Mars 6, launched last Aug. 5, touched down on the Martian surface in the southern hemisphere where, Soviet scientists believe, the thin carbon dioxide atmosphere might carry living organisms.

Despite the radio failure, which probably will make it impossible to recover the capsule, Western experts said the Soviets still should be able to obtain valuable scientific data from the spacecraft orbiting Mars.

Tass gave no indication the present capsule carried any life-detection instruments, and U.S. space authorities in Washington said they doubted it did.

Lisbon — Portugal's biggest political crisis in more than a decade erupted as the nation's two leading generals were dismissed because of their opposition to Portugal's war policy in its Africa colonies. The generals, who feel the military cannot defeat guerrilla forces in the colonies, have called for concessions leading to a federation of equal states.

Embargo End Tied To Withdrawals

Tripoli — The Arab oil countries which are expected to announce an end to the oil embargo against the United States when they meet in Vienna Sunday, intend to tie the lifting of the embargo to the withdrawal of Israeli troops from occupied Arab territories, according to informed sources. The countries have agreed to review their action in two months, the sources said, in an effort to insure satisfactory use of American influence on Israel in the troop-pullback talks. (More on Page 1.)

Officials Confident Embargo Lifted

Washington — Key government and oil industry officials expressed confidence that the oil embargo has been lifted and that Saudi Arabia, the leading Arab producer, will soon increase production to pre-October levels. White House and State Department officials were more cautious, however, and stressed that there had been no official confirmation that the embargo had been lifted. (More on Page 1.)

Shultz Resigns Cabinet Post

Washington — The White House announced that Secretary of the Treasury Schultz had resigned and would leave his Cabinet post in May. Shultz is the last remaining member of the original Nixon Cabinet. (More on Page 2.)

Gas Price Wars Feared

New York — The evaporating gasoline shortage has produced a new worry for service station operators: price wars. With the end of the Arab oil embargo not yet confirmed officially, motorists are already becoming increasingly price conscious and they have a wide range of prices to choose from.

Richardson Warned Of 'Bombshell'

New York — Laurence B. Richardson Jr. testified at the Mitchell-Stans trial that he once warned his employer, Robert L. Vesco, that he was going to drop a public "bombshell." Five days later, Richardson testified. He did — by walking into the U.S. attorney's office and implicating John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans in Vesco's tangled affairs.

Burglary Suspects Plead Innocent

Washington — Four men, including three members of the original Watergate burglary team, pleaded not guilty to charges growing out of the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's former psychiatrist. (More on Page 2.)

Tax Staff Ordered To Draft
Bill To End 22% Oil Loophole

Washington (UPI) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., Thursday ordered his Ways and Means Committee staff to draft legislation which would end the oil depletion allowance and levy a stiff excess profits tax on the oil industry.

The committee has been working for three weeks on a relatively mild tightening of oil company taxes, but Mills ordered the committee staff to draw up a much more stringent proposal by next Monday.

Mills returned to active chairmanship of the committee last Monday after a seven-month absence because of back surgery. This was the first time Mills had outlined a comprehensive plan of his own during committee deliberations.

The Mills plan would work this way:

A tax of 85% would be placed on all oil company profits above some base period. Mills has not settled on a base period, but he said it could be, for example, profits over five years ending in 1972.

Oil companies could escape all or part of the tax by pouring the money back into exploration, development, increased refinery capacity, shale oil development, coal liquefaction and gasification, new ecological devices or public interest projects.

Mills' excess profits tax proposal differs greatly from the administration's "windfall profits" tax plan, which actually would be a graduated excise tax on crude oil prices. The committee previously agreed tentatively on a temporary windfall profits tax along the lines of the administration proposal.

Mills said he had not settled on an exact plan for ending the depletion allowance, which permits oil companies to deduct 22% of their income from oil properties up to 50% of net income. But he said it must be ended.

"I know it is sacrosanct to a lot of people," Mills said. "But I don't think anybody can justify additional stimulants if the price is high."

The committee has been discussing a seven-year phaseout of the depletion allowance, but has riddled it with so many exceptions that it would apply now to only about 15% of domestic oil production.

There is some question as to whether Mills can get the votes on the committee for his plan. According to the voting pattern that has developed on the controversial depletion allowance question, he would have to turn around only one vote.

Mills said the main thrust of his plan was to prevent oil company stockholders from reaping profits from the energy crisis, and instead force them to invest their profits in additional oil production and ecology.

Four Men Plead Innocent
To Break-In Conspiracy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three of the convicted Watergate burglars were reunited in a federal courtroom Thursday as they pleaded innocent to a conspiracy charge in the Ellsberg break-in case.

Henry B. Rothblatt, counsel for DeDiego, a Miami real estate broker, told newsmen he expects to subpoena President Nixon as a defense witness.

"Every relevant witness will be called," Rothblatt said. "I think he'll be a very relevant witness."

Miss Woods
Must Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lawyer representing Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary, asked the Senate Watergate committee Thursday to withdraw a subpoena seeking her testimony under oath.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., the committee chairman, refused the request.

Attorney Charles S. Rhyne had appealed to the committee within hours after a White House spokesman said Miss Woods was not "dodging or ducking or taking refuge" from the subpoena.

The four are charged, along with former White House assistants John D. Ehrlichman and Charles W. Colson, with conspiracy to violate the rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding, the Beverly Hills psychiatrist who had been treating Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg.

TV Movie Crew
Killed In Crash

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) — Investigators flew by helicopter Thursday to a rocky ridge where a chartered plane crashed and exploded, killing 31 members of a television movie crew and five airline employees.

Eyewitnesses said the Sierra Pacific plane blew up like a fireball after slamming into the ridge about five minutes after takeoff from Bishop Airport Wednesday night. The twin-engine propeller plane disintegrated on impact. Only the tail section remained intact. A helicopter pilot at the site said: "They were all dead. All that we saw was a lot of burning."

Wolper Productions, which chartered the Convair 440 for the crew filming the documentary series "The Primal Man," said one of the dead was actor Janos Prohaska, 54. He played the talking bear on the Andy Williams Television show. His son Robert, 34, also was identified as a victim.

Israel's Record Budget To Help Pay Bills Of War

By The Associated Press
Israeli and Syrian gunners waged a long-distance artillery duel across the Golan cease-fire line for the third straight day Thursday, as Israel's government announced a record $8.4 billion budget to help pay the bills of the October war.

The United Nations Emergency Force announced it was doubling its force to 4,000 men in the Sinai buffer zone between the Egyptian and Israeli armies, but denied the move had anything to do with the tense situation on the Golan Heights.

The Tel Aviv command said fighting flared briefly on the front where Israel captured 300 square miles of territory in the war.

The shelling on the Golan Heights appeared to be a minor incident on the front, where Premier Golda Meir claims the Syrians were planning an offensive before truce talks were arranged in Washington by Kissinger.

Mrs. Meir and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan were in parliament as the shelling was announced, listening to Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir outline a draft budget setting aside $3.4 billion to buy arms, build fortifications and manufacture new weapons in Israel's own factories.

Sapir, peering over a pile of documents almost a foot high, said the defense account came nowhere near paying for the October war and warned that Israel would have to spend "many billions of dollars" for the next few years to match the flow of Soviet arms to the Arab states.

Wolper Productions spokesman Michael Manheim said another victim was Dennis Azzarella, a film director and writer whose credits include the National Geographic special, "The Violent Earth," and a television biography of football star Joe Namath.

Manheim said the film crew had been shooting a Siberian tiger hunt sequence at the Mammoth Mountain resort area. It was for use in the third segment and was to have aired May 2.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Continuing to pay a heavy price for our excesses of the past, the American people would be well advised not to throw caution to the wind if the Middle East oil embargo against the U.S. is lifted soon, as now expected. In some areas, it may have seemed as though the energy crisis meant a savings for people.

Such, however, is basically not the case. If you used less energy, you spent less money than you would have if you had used more, but what did you pay for the energy you did use? You may be using a little less gasoline now than six months or a year ago but you are paying heavily for what you do use.

Perhaps you have switched cars, too, from a larger to a smaller one in order to get better gas mileage. But if you bought a small car in the market in recent months, you paid a premium price for it, from 10 to maybe 20% more than would have been the case prior to the crisis.

In every aspect of life, all of us have paid a heavy price for the energy crunch that came upon us. We should fully understand by now just how vital our natural energy resources are in our way of life and standard of living.

The food you eat, the clothes you wear, the house you live in, your leisure-time activity, the material things you own — all of these are dependent upon the nation's supply of oil, gas and electricity. There is hardly any element of your life that, directly or indirectly, is not affected by the availability of these energy supplies.

A lifting of the Arab oil embargo would, of course, be a welcome development but, as news stories have pointed out, it would not be the end of our problems. The price of oil, for instance, is still a major consideration in and of itself, regardless of quantity.

Price is an especially critical matter in the case of imports as it relates to the entire economy of the world and our own position within that economy. As such, it is a powerful political influence and plays heavily upon the foreign policy of this nation.

That may not be a sound thing in principle but it is as real a fact as you will ever face. And while Arab nations have a right to do with their oil as they see fit, we have a responsibility to avoid excessive reliance upon the Arab sources.

It is folly for this nation to lay its entire productivity, its overall wealth and its international leadership open to the caprice of foreign powers. The price of that is far more than we should be willing to pay.

It is the nation's responsibility to get its house in order. It should strive for a position wherein foreign energy supplies can be effectively utilized but do not constitute a stranglehold upon us.

In the area of price, we have to be as disciplined on the world scene as we are on domestic affairs. Price will turn buyers off in most things and it should do so when it comes to the importing of oil.

President Nixon's goal of energy independence is a laudable one, despite the criticisms and skepticism that have been directed toward it. It does not mean, however, independence to the point of endless luxury.

We should be convinced by all that has happened in the past six months that we cannot continue in the same old wasteful ways. We cannot indulge in the pursuit of every innovation simply for the sake of change or the relief of boredom.

A constructive spirit of conservation has been born out of this crisis and it should be carefully cultivated for the long-term future. The alternative course is one of self-destruction.

'Discomfort Index' Is Pain In Wallet

NEW YORK — When all else fails, the big brains can always fall back on that old strip-teaser's lament: "Ya gotta have a gimmick." So what's the latest? The "discomfort index."

It's supposed to do for consumers what those doves and tassels and fans did for the bald-headed row: make you forget you're looking at the same old thing all over again.

The discomfort index is an old idea jazzed up in fancy language. What they do is add up the unemployment rate and the inflation rate, toss in a little high-level arithmetic, and come up with a figure that tells us how our wallet feels.

Well, now. They really didn't have to go to all that trouble. Wallets these days feel flat. And flat wallets make folks uncomfortable. Never mind all that "index" gobbledygook.

As of right now, in case you care, we're economically uncomfortable 15 points worth. To be really comfortable, we'd have to go back to, say, 1964 when our discomfort index was only 6.3%.

What's more, in the next few months things are going to get so bad they'll probably switch over to an "agony index" by summer.

Which brings us to the next point: If they really want to measure our discomfort, they're going about it all wrong. Bad as inflation and unemployment are, we just might be able to put up with them if it weren't for a lot of other things that discomfort us even more.

Chief among these is a scary feeling that the gentlemen in charge of things haven't got the foggiest idea of how to run a country. That goes for the Democrats as well as the Republicans . . . Conservatives as well as Liberals . . . and all the Independents in between.

One White House official, speaking of inflation, came right out the other day and admitted nobody in the administration knows how to stop it. It's things like this that tend to keep us tossing far into the night.

After a year and a half of fumbling around with Phases 1, 2, 3 and 4 (and they're even talking about Number 5), the general feeling now seems to be one of ignoring it and maybe it will go away. (Which just might work, and why didn't they think of that 7.1 points ago?)

Another fidgety problem is the record-breaking $304 billion budget. Which is bad enough. But already the President has threatened to "bust the budget" if we slide into a real depression, and there's not much doubt about who's going to wind up "busted."

The way they're handling the energy crunch isn't exactly soothing, either. The folks in charge (?) seem to change their minds as they go along. So far, their allocation program has only given more people a piece of the shortage. And nobody seems to be doing much about putting the country on the road to self-sufficiency.

Then there's the official flapping on campaign financing . . . tax loopholes . . . welfare reform . . . public health measures . . . etc., etc. Much oratory; precious little action.

And what is perhaps most unsettling of all is the nagging suspicion that nothing — inflation, unemployment, fuel, public trust — is as important to the White House and Congress right now as the impeachment question and the next election.

That's good for at least 3 points on our discomfort index right there.

'Bless You, Patricia Hearst, And These Thy Gifts . . .'

A Step Into The Past

Speaking of the death penalty, Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., said that for the serious crimes specified in the federal statute passed Wednesday by the Senate, "it is the very minimum and not the maximum of what (penalty) should be enacted."

We're not sure if McClellan was contemplating a penalty worse than death, or whether he wanted the penalty applied to a vast range of crimes. At any rate, his statement is illustrative of the bloody and vengeful attitude that is sweeping the state legislatures and now the Senate in attempting to overcome constitutional objections to the death penalty listed by the Supreme Court in 1972.

The Senate approved and sent to the House a bill restoring the death penalty for espionage, treason and certain other federal crimes such as kidnapping and hijacking that result in death. The penalty is mandatory unless mitigating factors exist. A number of states have passed similar laws under which specific crimes carry a mandatory death penalty or which require a separate hearing for sentencing after conviction. The legislatures have acted to comply with the Supreme Court ruling which struck out at the discriminatory nature with which capital punishment was being imposed.

But in meeting judicial requirements, the higher goals of civilized society are still not served. We don't think that putting the electric chairs and gas chambers back in business will put an end to human depravity. It will not put an end to murder, rape, kidnapping or any of the other crimes specified in law. It will satiate, perhaps, the passion for revenge, but there is not too much nobility in that.

Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said it simply and eloquently: "This is not the way to do it. Man cannot make the world a better place to live by returning brutality for brutality." Hughes, who retires from the Senate next year to go into religious work, sees restoration of capital punishment as a step back into the past. But ultimately, he said, "mankind must abandon this methodology."

If men of higher purpose don't leave law-making to the McClellans of the world, perhaps that will happen.

Roadside Hunting

From the sportsman's standpoint, a bill recently passed by the Legislature which permits hunting from roadside ditches will probably mean the opportunity for more shots and a greater yield of game.

But there are other factors of a more overriding interest than the boon to the hunters which make LB779 bad legislation and a justifiable target for a gubernatorial veto, as urged by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly.

Warner says that from contact with people in his district he has elicited but a handful of support for LB779, which he says will result in further deterioration in farmer-hunter relations.

Although the law prohibits roadside hunting within 200 yards of any dwelling or feedlot and although proponents claim that taking game from roadside ditches has worked well in other states and argue that most Nebraska hunters will ask permission for roadside hunting, those are assumptions and we can see no compelling reason to tempt fate by increasing accident risk or to risk further enmity between farmers and hunters.

As Warner points out, there is a real possibility of injury or worse to people riding horseback or hiking on country roads and who might not be visible because of foliage. Further, there is the problem of accidents between farm vehicles and hunters' cars which suddenly stop when game is sighted. Permitting hunting from ditches will mean the proliferation of vehicles parked on the roadway.

It can also be expected that more hunters will be tempted to blast away from inside their vehicles, once roadside hunting is legal. And finally, there is the problem of retrieving game shot from the ditch on land posted against hunting. This can only harden a landowner's attitude if he is already unfavorably disposed toward hunters.

There is significant opposition in rural Nebraska to liberalizing the hunting regulations. Gov. Exon might be doing a favor for hunters in the long run if he vetoes LB779.

ANTHONY LEWIS

'One Who Practiced . . .'

But DeMarco would not go beyond that to describe the discussion.

While DeMarco was in the White House that same day in April, 1970, he notarized a deed that allegedly gave the papers to the National Archives. The deed was dated March 27, 1969, and the notary's signature backdated to April 21, 1969. He says that there was an earlier copy, but it has never been found.

That backdating is highly suggestive of tax fraud, which the courts have described as conduct likely to "mislead or conceal" on a "material" issue. These dates were material, indeed highly significant, because the gift had to be made before July 25, 1969, in order to escape a tax reform act that ended deductions for such gifts.

It is now indicated, by persons familiar with the investigation, that the backdated deed was never shown to the Internal Revenue Service agents who audited the Nixon returns — and they were not curious enough to ask to see a deed. Some experts think the backdating was then not "material," since no agent saw the deed and was misled. Others say the preparation of a falsely dated document, even for use only if necessary, signifies a fraudulent intent.

If the I.R.S. never saw the deed, another document becomes relevant. As required by tax regulations, a statement was attached to the 1969 return giving details of the claimed charitable gift. The statement had five paragraphs. The last read as follows:

"5. Restrictions: none. The gift was free and clear, with no rights remaining to the taxpayer."

In fact, the deed contained substantial restrictions. It used the very word "restrictions" three times. While Nixon remained president, it said, no one could have access to the papers but him or persons he designated in writing, and he reserved all rights of reproduction.

Was the false denial of restrictions a "material" deception? At the very least, the concealed terms of the gift reduced its value; the Archives did not really get full ownership for years, and any property is worth less if you can only use it years from now. Furthermore, the bland assurance that there were no restrictions could have kept agents from asking to see a deed that may itself have been fraudulent.

For these and other reasons, a number of tax lawyers think there is a likely case of fraud here. That would mean a civil penalty of 50% of all unpaid tax, and possibly a criminal prosecution.

The remaining question is Nixon's responsibility for any fraud committed. The

MILAN WALL

Openness Encouraged

Well, it's been fun . . . this affair with the world of daily news.

Next week I'll be off to a new venture with different deadlines, new kinds of challenges, other tasks.

The 6½ years since I first walked into The Lincoln Star newsroom have gone pretty quickly, but they've been full . . . and rewarding.

My assignments, particularly in the past three years or so, have brought me close to some centers of power in and around Lincoln . . . in education, health, social services.

I've been encouraged by the attitudes most of the people in those fields have displayed.

By and large they've tried to do their jobs well, and they've been pretty effective at it.

The same might be said of the people in the media whose job it is to keep the public informed. Lincoln is fortunate in those respects . . . its public servants and its media are trying to serve the community.

That can't be said in every community in the country.

Mistakes are made, of course. But mistakes alone are not as bad as an inability to admit them and to learn from them.

Honesty and openness in that regard ought to be the first qualities we seek. They are qualities generally found here.

Among public bodies, I must say once more that the Lincoln School Board should take the prize for its method of operation. It has been the model . . . and it continues so.

It rarely acts on matters of importance that it hasn't discussed publicly in advance. That is the kind of attitude that gives the people it serves a chance to react before the fact.

Citizens may not always agree with what the board does, but the citizen who wants to be informed has the opportunity.

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents, once the most secretive of the public bodies to which I was assigned, has come a long way in the past couple of years. It could move a bit further down the road, by opening to more than the media its pre-meeting informal gatherings. I suspect it may before long.

There are other good examples, too.

The Southeast Community College Board, when it was formed a few months ago, started with the notion that what it does was for the public to see.

The Lincoln General Hospital Board of Trustees provides public access to its meetings, a model that other hospitals in the community should follow.

The Lincoln Foundation may be the only community foundation in the country which permits reporting on its every action.

Health planning councils are open to public attendance, as are meetings of social service agencies, drug and alcohol groups and the many others that I've been attending the past few years.

There are others . . . the list could go on. But the important thing is the kind of trust that builds between public agency, the press and the citizen when attitudes of openness and cooperation prevail.

What's particularly important about mentioning these matters, from time to time, is the positive reinforcement that such attention provides.

That kind of reinforcement is one of the most important of the aspects that stand out now, as I look back.

The people who appreciated my work often told me so. I believe I would have gone on, without that, but perhaps not with the enthusiasm that such reinforcement encourages.

If there was one request, I guess it would be that more might also have told me when they disagreed, or when they thought I had erred. That kind of help is needed, too.

But then I'm not sure the society, the media included, encourages that enough.

We all agree that the press ought to watchdog public servants, but not enough of us agree that the public needs to watchdog the press.

The media are super-sensitive to criticism — too much so.

We lay it on others pretty heavily, when we think it's necessary. But we jump back with alarm when the verbal guns are turned on us.

That's our inclination, but it's a feeling we ought to fight.

If the media and the public are fair with one another, and accurate in what they say, then the attention ought to go to seeking improvement and not covering up sins.

That, I think, is what the media must demand of the public servant; and it is what the public must demand from the media that serves it.

With a combination of healthy skepticism and fairness we all would be better served . . . the people, their institutions and the press. May it be so.

Letters To The Editor

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that need-less details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by the writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Crime And Victim

Lincoln, Neb.

"D. L." should make himself known. We all remember "D. L." He is the condormor of "streakers" who, after his condemnation letter, did not have the temerity to give his name. He is probably a frustrated goldfish swimmer. Goldfish-swallowing might be a violation of the cruelty-to-animals laws, but who cares? Right, "D. L."?

Streaking is a most conspicuous illustration of a victimless crime. No one is harmed and the potential for harm is negligible to non-existent.

Instead of castigating the college student as an immoral lawless degenerate, a people the likes of "D. L." should launch a nationwide "plant-a-rosebush" campaign. Streaking might well be nipped in the bud, as it were.

While the conscience of "D. L." is shocked by the paramours of peeled prancing, my conscience is shocked by more mundane matters, such as littering. We have a city covered with trash because the citizens do not have the common decency and respect to properly dispose of unwanted papers, etc. Littering IS a crime, a crime with a victim — me, and everybody else who lives here. I suppose "D. L." hasn't ever littered. I think everyone who litters ought to be arrested and forced to live in a garbage can for a year.

Both Good And Bad

Seward, Neb.

At a civic meeting recently I heard a remark that continued to echo and bounce around in my mind. The comparison was drawn between our philosophy of building, and the European: building, tearing down and rebuilding, opposed to building to last.

Today many Americans are traveling to Europe for a week or two, taking tours and seeing the historic and cultural points of interest. It is too bad to see only one side of Europe and to come home comparing our country with those visited.

These historic buildings must be viewed in perspective, both their medieval and modern. What labor was used to build them? Who commissioned them to be built and why? Who paid the bill? Europe had its slave labor which monarchs used at their pleasure for building and for fighting. It is because of these very things that America was populated by the English: convicts from the debtors' prisons; by the French: Hugonot craftsmen fleeing from massacres; by the Poles and Germans: young men seeking freedom from compulsory military duty in a dictator's army.

That the nobility of Europe lived off the labor of the peasants and common people must not be forgotten. We many times come perilously close to establishing American nobility and special privileged classes. I am sure that the wealthy of Europe were as sorry to see their cheap labor exit as was Pharaoh of Egypt today want to air their problems to foreigners and are thus glad that all Americans want is to see beautiful buildings, not slums; to take Mediterranean cruises, not the bus; to travel first-class, not third.

I hope we never forget that individual life, liberty and happiness are greater treasure to our country than priceless art works hanging in museums.

It is more important now than ever that we know our own history, the good and the bad; that we have pride in what we have done that can be called honorable and that we have repentance for what we have done that is evil.

A country is as strong as its conscience. When we are greedy for things that will cost human life and suffering, then we spit on our flag.

Warren Court

Lincoln, Neb.

This writer disagrees with C. V. Keller's analysis of the Warren Court (Mar. 12).

The Constitution protects everyone, rich and poor. The Warren Court knew the rich could look out for themselves by the attorneys they hired. Not so the underprivileged. It simply spelled out that the constitutional rights which were already assured for the rich by their money be extended to the poor, and did so by a group of logical decisions.

The Pony

Lincoln, Neb.

Lucille Patterson writes of the Nixon situation as a new game being played. I disagree. I think we have an updated version of the old political fix. The old pros in Washington can't stand Nixon's "crowd" because they think the "democratic" process is being cheapened. Imagine offering an ambassadorship for $100,000 when FDR got more from Joe Kennedy, and that was back in the 30's when the dollar meant something. And, gracious, $290,000 for the White House Watergate lawyers, when even Ellsworth came up with $900,000 and Archie Cox got his staff of old Kennedy lawyers for $2,800,000. No wonder the clamor for Nixon's hide when we Americans have always figured that bigger is better.

Not that I'm satisfied with Nixon's performance, but when considering the circumstances — best described by my old Dad when Eisenhower won the '56 election by a large majority and the Democrats were put in control the House and Senate: "Any farmer could tell you, when you put an elephant on one end of a wagon and hitch a bunch of jackasses to the other end, not to expect to go anywhere" — Eisenhower was smart enough to accept the situation and go play golf, but Nixon, being a dedicated optimist, keeps on trying because with all the manure being tossed around, he's sure there has to be a pony somewhere.

Omaha School Vocational Programs Compared

Omaha (AP) — A government witness testified in Federal District Court that South High School's vocational activities and equipment were generally equal to or better than those at Tech High. He based his views on a Feb. 14 visit.

Dr. Rutherford Lockette, of the University of Pittsburgh, also testified that the facilities that were emphasized at Tech were those traditionally identified with minority groups. Such things include welding and food technology, he said.

Lockette testified on the ninth day of the trial centering on government charges of racial discrimination allegedly practiced in the Omaha School District. One allegation is that Tech has not been operated as a true "open school" because in part vocational facilities have been built up at other schools so whites seeking those courses would not have to attend Tech.

Lockette testified under questioning by government attorney Ross Connealy, who sought to identify him as an "expert witness."

However, School Board attorney Gerald Laughlin took exception to some of Lockette's findings.

Laughlin asked Lockette why he considered South's business education department superior to Tech's. Lockette said he based it mainly on an audio-tutorial console at South that takes into account varying abilities of students who are doing dictation.

Another factor was newer typewriters at South, he said.

Laughlin asked if he had compared ages of all the typewriters at Tech with all of those at South. Lockette said he had not. Laughlin suggested there was a regular replacement of older typewriters.

Laughlin attempted to determine how much time Lockette spent at each school. Lockette said he did not keep a log, but believed it was about 2 1/2 hours at each.

Laughlin also asked if he had kept a list of all equipment at both schools, or was provided a list by school officials, or whether he went back to a school to doublecheck to see if he might have overlooked certain things.

Lockette answered no to each question.

Nebraska Planting Intentions Increase

Nebraska farmers and ranchers are planning to plant slightly more corn and soybeans than they intended to plant on Jan. 1, according to a new crop intentions survey taken by the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

The March 1 planting intentions report is usually considered quite accurate; however, this year farmers are facing unknown supplies of fertilizer, fuel and farm chemicals needed to grow the crops so figures may change again when actual planting occurs.

Corn growers intend to plant 7,100,000 acres in 1974, up 11% from last year and up 1.42% since the Jan. 1 survey was taken.

Sorghum producers' intentions are for 2,260,000 acres, which is the same amount they planted in 1973 but is down from the January intentions report by 2%.

Soybean acreage gained 3% since the January report and is up 7% from last year to reach an all-time record acreage in the state of 1,320,000 acres.

Oat acreage gained over last year by 17% for 670,000 acres, which is a jump of 3% since the January survey.

Barley intentions show a sharp drop from the acreage planted in 1973, to only 30,000 acres or 21% of the '73 crop.

Dry edible beans are also expected to reach a record crop in Nebraska this year as farmers seed 120,000 acres, an 11% increase over last year.

Blaze Claims Three

Omaha (AP) — Authorities say a short in electrical wiring may have caused a fire that killed three children as it swept through half a duplex home on Omaha's Near North Side.

The Thursday morning blaze killed 8-year-old Mia Erving and her brothers, Rodney 7, and Travis, 3.

Their mother, Mrs. Evelyn Erving, 23, was reported in serious condition suffering from smoke inhalation and cuts. Another occupant, George Hutcherson, 23, was treated for smoke inhalation and released.

Acting Asst. Fire Chief Angelo Perry said that when firemen arrived at the two and one-half story duplex, they found Mrs. Erving and Hutcherson on a porch, waiting to be rescued.

He said the rear of the building was ablaze.

Perry said firemen rescued both adults, then entered the home and found the children's bodies in upstairs bedrooms.

Acting County Coroner James Keenan said preliminary findings of autopsies, which are performed in all fire deaths, indicated the children died of burns and smoke inhalation.

Hutcherson and Mrs. Erving told police they were awakened by the smell of smoke and when they broke a window in their second-floor bedroom at the front of the duplex, the smoke and flames grew more intense.

They said they went into the children's bedroom at the rear of the second floor but were forced out because of heat and smoke.

A family living in the other half of the duplex escaped injury.

District Fire Chief Don Mills, chief arson investigator, said preliminary findings indicated the fire may have started in the basement of the duplex.

It may have started in or near an electrical circuit box on the south wall of the basement, Mills said. He said a final determination of the cause would be made later.

Bandmaster Assn. Meet Attracts 100

More than 100 band directors are attending the annual Nebraska State Bandmasters Assn. convention Friday and Saturday, according to Jack R. Snider, director of bands at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The convention, which opened Thursday night with concerts by the UNL Collegiate and Symphonic bands, also will feature concerts by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and public school bands.

Walter Susskind, St. Louis Symphony director and conductor, will hold a conducting seminar Friday for the directors. Symphony members also will give lecture-demonstrations for woodwind, brass and percussion instruments and master classes for flute, oboe, bassoon, clarinet, saxophone, trumpet, French horn, trombone, tuba and mallets.

The band directors will have a business meeting Friday night to elect officers and a luncheon Saturday to honor new officers, retiring band directors and high school scholarship winners from bands which performed for the convention.

The directors also will attend displays sponsored by music companies.

Mrs. Smith To Receive 4-H Alum Honor

Ames, Iowa — Mrs. Haven N. Smith of Chappell, Neb., has been named a 1974 national winner in the 4-H alumni recognition program, according to Dr. Marvin A. Anderson, director of Extension, Iowa State University. Nominated for the award by Fremont County, Iowa, Mrs. Smith, active community and state civic leader, was a 4-H member in Fremont County, Iowa. She will receive the award during ceremonies at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Dec. 1-5.

Owens Named To Boys Town Board

Boys Town (AP) — Former Olympic star Jesse Owens of Phoenix, Ariz., has been elected to the Father Flanagan's Boys Town board of directors. Nine new members were elected at the board's annual meeting. Others chosen included William D. Maddux of Chicago, Dr. George H. Weber of Bethesda, Md., Joseph R. Keys of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Agnes Lempka, Charles Monasee, Carlin Whitesell and Herbert Sampson, all of Omaha.

WE Paid Nebraskans $75,700,000

Omaha (UPI) — Western Electric paid its Nebraska employees $75,700,000 in 1973, according to the company's annual report. "This amount was paid to a work force that numbered about 6,400 at the Omaha works and an additional 340 at the company's Omaha service center," General Manager Frank J. Lefebvre said. He said the company paid approximately $34.7 million to 595 suppliers of materials and services in 38 Nebraska communities.

Buffalo Co. Okays Talks On Airport

Kearney (UPI) — The Buffalo County Board of Supervisors has told the Hall County Airport Authority at Grand Island it is willing to discuss plans for a regional airport.

The airport authority had suggested in a Feb. 27 resolution that renewed consideration be given in Kearney, Hastings and Grand Island for creation of a single airport to serve the three communities.

The action by the Buffalo County board paves the way for talks between representatives of the three counties involved. The Adams County supervisors at Hastings had already approved further discussion on the matter.

No date for a meeting had been scheduled.

Buffalo County Atty. Andrew McMullen has told the county board a regional airport would probably be under the control of a regional airport authority which, by law, would have to be composed of five members.

The members would originally be appointed by the three county boards, he said, and then become elective posts beyond the control of the county boards.

A regional airport authority could impose a tax of up to one mill without a vote of the people, and would have authority to issue 20-year bonds.

Fertilizer Stretchers Hit

University of Nebraska extension soil fertility specialist Don H. Sander said that farmers should not buy products purported to be fertilizer stretchers. He said they do not work.

He said "this list of worthless products sold to increase soil fertility includes many. These products are often advertised to 'unlock fixed soil nutrients' or 'activate micro-organisms' in one way or another. The names of these products often utilize words such as life, bio or natural.

"Many have an organic base that offers very little or, in some cases, no nutrient value. Other products may offer 'minerals' that are far more expensive than such nutrients which can be purchased from local fertilizer dealers. Normally, such 'minerals' probably are not needed anyway."

Pre-Retirement Services Offered

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

This year 486 state employees are scheduled to retire.

For some it could mean a traumatic experience, the feeling of being "put out to pasture" by a younger society. Experts think those who fail to adjust to retirement may be ending up in nursing homes 10 or 15 years before they belong there.

Alex Cabrales, chief of the special projects division for the State Personnel Department, last year began a "pre-retirement program" to help state employees about to reach 65 turn their retirement years into a productive, satisfying experience.

Thus far, Cabrales termed the program, which has not received funding and has been forced to rely on volunteer assistance, "a success."

Common Questions

The program features five two-hour sessions at the City-County Building where nutritionists, lawyers and employment officers answer questions commonly facing retired couples, such as:

— Should we sell our house?
— What are the chances for a part-time job?

"We are attempting to create an awareness among people on the verge of retirement of the possibilities before them. We chart the alternatives for them," Cabrales said.

The biggest misnomer going around is that Social Security will take care of them. Secondly, money is not always the biggest problem of retired persons.

"People are afraid to face up to the thought of disengaging from their jobs."

Pork Producers Choose A Queen

Saline County Pork Producers named Sandy Kasl of Dorchester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kasl, as their organization's candidate for Nebraska Pork Queen at the organization's annual banquet in Crete Wednesday evening.

Named attendants were Cheri Fritz of Wilber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Fritz, and Brenda Rohrig of Friend, daughter of Roger and Janice Rohrig.

Feeders Urged To Sell Beef

Omaha (UPI) — "Let's get our house in order," was the appeal made here Thursday to cattle feeders across the nation by Milton J. Brown, president of the National Livestock Feeders Association (NLFA). Brown's reference was to getting feedlots current and keeping them that way in the future.

"We now have evidence that the large volume of beef is beginning to move more readily through the processing and marketing channels," Brown said. "Thanks to the positive response on the part of leading food retailers to the urgent request for assistance in this respect from the NLFA."

Three weeks ago, the feeders association contacted retailers around the country calling their attention to plentiful fed cattle supplies and, particularly, to the backup of heavier cattle due to the transportation interruption.

Retailers were urged to temporarily set aside their rather narrow buying specifications and to step up beef promotion, specials featuring beef and other merchandising efforts to move the plentiful supplies to consumers.

"Certainly, feeders cannot control such factors as the truck stoppage, but we can hedge somewhat against their detrimental effect by selling cattle when they are ready," Brown said.

"The practice of holding cattle in the hope of the market going up should be cast aside forever in favor of disciplining ourselves to keep cattle moving to market in an orderly fashion as they reach the weight and finish most in demand," Brown said. "These past weeks have demonstrated that we cannot afford the risk of doing otherwise."

With the proper attitude Cabrales said many retired people can start second careers based on hobbies and produce needed income.

"Killing time" is not the purpose of this program," he said. "All too often in the past this is what has happened."

In reply to a question asking why "productive" people should be retired, he stated simply that state requires retirement at age 65 with the possibility of having employment extended until age 72.

"If enough people got in-involved, maybe this could be changed," he remarked.

In the meantime, he said the problem of ensuring a happy adjustment to retirement is growing bigger; he said the United Auto Workers (UAW) is pushing for retirement at age 55.

Private Program

Cabrales said he is encouraged by Dorsey Laboratories' recent decision to institute a similar "pre-retirement" program. Hopefully, he said more private interests will adopt such programs.

Although the program has the encouragement of State Personnel Director William C.

Peters and Gov. J. James Exon, the administration has not seen fit to fund the program beyond a volunteer basis.

"Maybe next year funds will be forthcoming," Cabrales said. The Commission on Aging and the Department of Public Welfare have not offered any monetary support either, although Cabrales said he has had informal talks with them.

"Their commitment right now is to (maintaining a decent living standard for the senior citizens), and they do a good job. I just believe we should go into more preventative programs," Cabrales said.

Exon To Honor Girl Scouts For National Project

Gov. J. James Exon will present a certificate of official bicentennial recognition Friday to representatives of the Nebraska Girl Scouts in recognition for their national bicentennial project.

The presentation will be made at 11:30 a.m. in the governor's hearing room at the Capitol.

The national project of the Girl Scouts is involved with finding women who have not previously been recognized for their contributions to their communities.

UNL Students Tab Valentine Junior

Ronald H. Clingenpeel, a junior from Valentine, easily won election as president of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) student government, according to unofficial figures released Thursday.

A spokesman for the Associated Students of the University of Nebraska (ASUN) said Clingenpeel, an English major, polled 1,011 of 2,402 votes cast. His nearest competitor in a field of four tallied 654.

United Students' Effort party candidates swept all the top student government offices, according to the unofficial figures. Sharon E. Johnson, a junior from Plainview, won 1,160 votes in the race for first vice president, beating out three other candidates, whose highest tally was 551.

David Howlett, a junior from McCook, apparently was elected second vice president with 1,033 votes.

Water Conference Slates Top Speakers

Some 300-350 representatives from public agencies, private industry and agricultural-agribusiness organizations involved in development of Nebraska's water resources are expected to attend the 1974 Nebraska Water Conference here Monday and Tuesday.

Specialists in water and energy use, conservation and management from throughout the country will speak at the third annual conference, with this year's theme: "Surface-ground Management of Nebraska's Waters."

Among top speakers are Nebraska Gov. J. James Exon; Robert Hemphill of the Federal Energy Office, Washington, D.C.; Clarence Kuiper, Colorado state Engineer, Denver; and Edwin Wheeler, president of the Fertilizer Institute, Washington, D.C.

The influence of current shortages in energy and other agricultural inputs, such as fertilizer, permeates the conference program, compared to the emphasis of the past two years' conferences on rapid development of Nebraska's water resources, especially irrigation.

The first day's session will tackle such problems as the need for legislation for off-season transbasin diversion of water; the need for legislation to restrict well drilling; and the need to restrict irrigation development in view of the energy shortage.

The funding outlook for irrigation development from state and federal sources, including Natural Resource Districts, will be explored in a panel presentation.

Federal energy official Hemphill's address on "Meeting the Energy Needs for Agriculture," will feature the awards banquet Monday night at the Legionnaire Club. Dr. James H. Zumberge, chancellor of NU, will present the Pioneer Irrigation Award and Progress Award. Regular conference sessions will be held at the Nebraska Center.

The Tuesday session will deal with current efforts to increase irrigation efficiency to conserve both energy and water, and approaches to re-charging aquifers or water-bearing underground structures.

Exon will address the conference at the Tuesday noon luncheon on "Matching Energy Supplies to Needs on a State-wide Basis."

During the afternoon session, conference participants will hear more about the outlook on fertilizer supplies and on livestock development. A farmer-manufacturer panel and a conference wrap-up by Richard Dirmeyer, general manager of the Central Nebraska Public Power & Irrigation District, Holdrege, will conclude the conference.

Brodkey Named To Top Court

The appointment of Omaha District Judge Donald Brodkey to the second district seat on the Nebraska Supreme Court was hailed Thursday by legal experts as "outstanding."

One high legal source called the 64-year-old Brodkey "a strong defender of individual rights in a sensible sort of way."

Another attorney familiar with the Omaha courts said Brodkey is "certainly the better choice of the two." The Judicial Nominating Commission earlier in the week submitted the name of Omaha District Judge John E. Murphy along with Brodkey's for Gov. J. James Exon's consideration.

Brodkey, who is the first Jew to sit on the high court and the second judge appointed by Exon, replaces Judge Robert Smith who resigned for health reasons.

Exon said Brodkey will assume his duties on the court as soon as his obligations on the Omaha district bench are cleared up.

The revised criminal code, LB8 now pending before the Legislature, was drawn up with the assistance of Brodkey.

He is a native of Sioux City, Ia., and received his law degree with distinction from the University of Iowa in 1933.

He was admitted to the Nebraska Bar in 1933 when he began private law practice in Omaha. He was elected municipal judge for Omaha in 1956 and to the district court bench in 1960. He was re-elected under the merit system to that post in 1965 and 1970.

Brodkey and his wife, Gertrude, have three children.

CAP Hopes To Start 2 New Flights

The Lincoln Cadet Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP) has announced it now has the leadership available to start two new flights. The CAP is encouraging young people between the ages of 13 and 17 to visit the squadron's Wednesday night meetings and consider a position with the CAP.

CAP cadets have opportunities to participate in activities and to receive scholarships available in any field. The CAP awards about $40,000 in scholarships each year on a competitive basis, depending on grades and CAP activity.

Those who join the Lincoln Cadet Squadron before June will be eligible to attend the summer encampment, a week-long view of U.S. Air Force life at a military base.

Although the CAP is a civilian auxiliary of the Air Force, joining does not entail a military obligation. For more information, contact Lt. Col. Harold Brissey of the Lincoln CAP.

Experimental Mini-Courses Are Planned

A series of experimental mini-courses, taught by senior faculty members at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, will be offered in Grand Island beginning March 26.

Course topics include: "Castles to Condominiums," "What Shakespeare has to Say to Us Today," "Inflation: The Permanent Crisis," and "Technological Development and Social Change."

The courses will be presented on six consecutive Tuesday evenings on a non-credit basis, although interested persons may earn credit through the completion of special assignments made by each instructor.

Student To Run For NU Regent

Timothy Evensen, a University of Nebraska student, filed Thursday for the Board of Regents' sixth district seat.

That seat is now held by Dr. Robert R. Koefow of Grand Island.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplaine

San Francisco — Another rainy day. (But we are off to sunny Baja California, leaving behind the bills and blues, the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune.)

Into each life some rain must fall. Most of it is falling on the scatter. We sprang a small leak in my room. Referred to as "the den." (The Lion of Snug Harbor.)

Everybody is deep into politics. (Except me — I keep an open mind.) A rainy night and we turned up the TV to hear the President. Glad to hear the economy — while stuttering and backfiring — is still in good shape.

Hard for a householder to understand these things: We withdrew money from circulation. So people would quit spending it and causing inflation. This caused unemployment — a good thing, but like cake, you can get too much of it. So now we will put some money back in circulation. Stop unemployment and stop inflation.

I am glad I don't have the job at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D.C.

I would not want to be a Republican representative this uneasy year.

"Any boy in this room can grow up to be President!" cried Old Batch. She was our teacher, Miss Batchelor. We called her Old Batch because she was every inch of 30.

JOY OF: 61st & Havelock Ave. ADULTS 75¢, under 12 50¢

(The Generation Gap is not a new thing, Max. Just a new generation.)

What she meant was we lived in a democracy. In the democratic process, we were all equal. Any boy could be President of the U.S.

If Old Batch had lived in these times, she would have had to answer some questions.

Women's Lib would ask: "Why any boy?"

End-the-wars people would have cried: "Will any boy survive?"

Black power would have shouted: "A black boy?"

Thus all the early democracy pumped into me (while I started out the window) has been put to the test.

Nebraskans Vote To Restore Penalty

Washington (AP) — Nebraska's Republican senators, Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska, voted with the majority Wednesday as the Senate passed 54 to 33 a bill to restore the death penalty for espionage, treason and certain other federal crimes. Early Wednesday, Curtis and Hruska had voted to table an amendment to the death penalty bill requiring the registration of handguns. The 68 to 21 Senate vote had the effect of killing the amendment.

Vesco Threatened 'To Blow Lid Off'

NEW YORK (AP) — At the height of a cover-up of Robert L. Vesco's secret $200,000 contribution to President Nixon's 1972 campaign, the financier himself threatened "to blow the lid off the whole thing," a government witness testified Thursday.

This testimony came from Laurence Richardson at the criminal conspiracy trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and onetime Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans.

Vesco had just been subpoenaed by Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigators and Richardson, his associate at the time, testified: "Vesco said that was outrageous and complained that they were trying to set him up for perjury, they were trying to extend the investigation into areas where they hadn't been before, they were trying to trace down the contribution, he wanted it quashed."

"Mr. Vesco said to Harry Sears, 'Get hold of Mitchell and those guys and tell them to have that subpoena quashed, or I'll blow the lid off the whole thing.'"

"He was extremely agitated and emotional. I've never seen him so mad. Sears said, all right, he'd see what he could do. Then he walked out. He was angry too."

Q. Did he say who "those guys" were?

A. No.

The subpoena went unquashed and when Vesco appeared before the commission on Oct. 18, 1972, he took the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination. Sears, who left New Jersey Republican politics to become a $60,000-a-year legal adviser to Vesco, was the latter's advocate with Stans and Mitchell, whom he had known as a result of his own activities in his home state.

In cross-examination, Richardson denied he had made any deal to escape indictment in the case by testifying for the prosecution against Mitchell and Stans.

He also denied he had a fix of the SEC investigation in mind when he and Vesco first approached Stans with the offer of a $200,000 contribution and that he did not consider himself a bagman when he turned the money over to the former commerce secretary later.

Brasilia (UPI) — First Lady Pat Nixon, bringing a message of "friendship, esteem and affection" from her husband, arrived in this futuristic capital Thursday to attend the inauguration of Ernesto Geisel as president of Brazil.

Dressed in red and white, Mrs. Nixon returned to Brazil for the first time since 1956 and received a warm welcome from Brazilian Foreign Minister Mario Gibson Barbosa and a contingent of about 75 students from the American School of Brasilia.

No Misappropriation Of Funds Found In Penal Complex Firing

The state auditor's office reported Thursday there is no indication as yet that any funds were misappropriated by a penal complex accountant fired for "sloppy" bookkeeping.

State Auditor Ray A. C. Johnson said an audit of the penal complex was suspended late last week when an examination of penal complex financial records showed they were not up to date.

Johnson said the audit will be resumed as soon as all receipts and disbursements have been properly posted.

Warden Charles L. Wolff Jr., who claimed there is no question of any misappropriation, said straightening out the books is his office staff's top priority and added it should be completed within the next few weeks.

In announcing the dismissal Thursday, Wolff said chief accountant Laurence Stroebel had failed to carry out the duties of his office by allowing records to fall months behind.

The auditor's staff found irregularities in the handling of the inmates' accounts and in the financial transactions involving sale of the complex's poultry flock before the audit was suspended.

Johnson said his staff began checking the penal complex's books about three weeks ago as part of a routine audit when the irregularities were discovered.

According to Wolff, Stroebel was demoted one year ago from business manager to chief accountant when the previous accountant, John Appel, died.

"He was demoted because it was determined that he was not capable of handling administrative matters," Wolff said. Stroebel was an accountant when he was hired on Nov. 19, 1969 as business manager.

Reservoir Park Plans Scrapped

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

Plans to turn the city reservoir site at 76th and Vine into a full-fledged park were junked Thursday by the Parks and Recreation Board.

Bowing to apparent widespread opposition to that proposal from Meadowlane residents, the board agreed to continue plans to spruce up neighboring Herbert Park and to construct a swimming pool in east Lincoln.

The park department drew up plans for the reservoir originally at the request of the City Council, which had received complaints about inadequate park facilities in Meadowlane.

The blueprint plans called for the addition of a baseball backstop, tennis courts, trails, playground equipment and open areas.

As It Is

But residents maintained they preferred the area to remain as is, vacant. They said it is a popular site for sledding, kite flying and softball and football contests.

Director Don Smith pointed out that additional park sites are needed to serve the heavily populated east Lincoln area. He reported that the reservoir site could serve some 4,200 people within a half-mile radius, while Herbert Park, near 81st and O, would serve some 3,100.

Bob Crose, 7801 E. Avon Ln., presented petitions signed by 140 people objecting to the proposed change. He contended that supervisory and parking problems would result if the area were formally developed.

'Everybody's Land'

But Leon Scherer, 620 Broadview Dr., said "the land is everybody's land," referring, he said, to the feeling among some residents that the reservoir "is their own private property."

Scherer, who noted he was speaking as a property owner and not in his official capacity as community development director, said "there is a very serious need for additional recreational facilities in this area."

But Ted Shafer, 949 Carlos Dr., said a proposed wind fence around the courts would be inadequate.

Although admitting more tennis courts are needed, Schafer remarked, "I don't like playing tennis in the wind on top of a mountain."

Dick Hansen, president of the Meadowlane Community Improvement Association, urged the board to pigeonhole the reservoir plan in favor of further development of Herbert Park and construction of a swimming pool in Meadowlane.

The department already is planning to spruce up Herbert Park to alleviate drainage problems and add new equipment.

Need Still Exists

In killing the reservoir plan, board chairman Clancy Woolman noted there still is a need for parks in the area and suggested the department work with the school board on possible joint use at Meadowlane School.

Woolman also directed a subcommittee to work with the neighborhood association to study the possible location of the pool.

The board already has proposed money be included in next year's capital improvements budget for a pool in east Lincoln.

In other business, the board took under study a request from the Near South Neighborhood Association to purchase two lots near 24th and South for use as a minipark.

Association President Carol Broman said the area is densely populated and has less green space than the Lincoln suburban areas.

One Lot Vacant

The former Medical Services building sits on one lot, she said, while the adjacent lot is vacant. Admitting that the price tag on the property is high due to its G Local Business zoning, Broman contended that the expense would be warranted to help preserve an older area of town. The list price is $47,000.

The board also approved a 5c increase in the price of the Children's Zoo ironhorse railroad fare. The request for the price hike from 20c to 25c was made by the Arnold Folsom Zoological Society, which said the increase would make it possible to give train riders two loops around the zoo, instead of one, thus conserving fuel.

The request will be forwarded to the City Council for action.

In further business the board agreed to work with the Lincoln Junior League on the league's volunteer efforts at the Chet Ager Nature Center.

The board also agreed to work with the Library Board on the placing of a mini-library in Van Dorn Park.

Library Director Charles Dalrymple reported that his board has unsuccessfully tried to locate the facility in the Indian Village area. The library would serve from 8,000 to 12,000 people, he said.

Legality Of Contractual Law Enforcement Eyed

By GORDON WINTERS
Star Staff Writer

The Police Services Task Force of the City-County Implementation Commission (CCIC) Thursday agreed to ask the CCIC legal committee to study whether proposals to consolidate law enforcement on a contractual basis are legally practical.

Chairman James Ackerman said he saw "serious flaws" in the Little report recommendations to transfer patrol and criminal investigation functions to the police department on a contractual basis.

Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas in an earlier meeting had given the same opinion, adding that he thought enabling legislation is needed to make the transfer.

"The contractual arrangement (in the case of the jail) is working now because of the personalities involved," Ackerman said. "But when you reduce by contract the authority of a statutory officer is when you run into problems."

West, East Germans Sign Agreement

Bonn (UPI) — West and East Germany Thursday signed an agreement laying down the rules for the first exchange of permanent missions since establishment of the two rival states 25 years ago.

Spokesmen for both sides said establishment of missions in the two capitals would contribute to political relaxation in the heart of Europe.

Ackerman also reacted to criticism that the task force had been haphazard, and subsequently outlined issues that he believes the task force should consider.

"I think we were rightly criticized for being haphazard and I think one of the reasons is we've been going beyond our assigned task," Ackerman said. Citizen member Michael Steinman had criticized the task force at a meeting of the Citizens

Advisory Committee to the CCIC.

Ackerman said he believes the task force must find a way to determine whether consolidation of patrol, criminal investigation, communications and dispatching and criminal record keeping will increase service and reduce cost.

"Maybe Sterns can't handle it. Maybe we need more time and more people. Maybe we need another Arthur D. Little,"

Ackerman said. (Lincoln attorney Floyd Sterns has been hired by the task force to gather data relating to the proposed consolidation moves.) Member Elaine Carpenter, however, said she felt the committee could make a recommendation now on the effects of consolidating criminal record keeping for the sheriff's office and the police department.

For Raymond Central fans, the state basketball tournament means screaming till your throat burns, hearing the band play "The Candy Man Can" a little off key and a bit too slow, pizzas at Valentino's, eating popcorn and peanuts in the shell and guzzling lots and lots of Cokes.

But mainly, the state high school tourney means winning. Ask any Raymond Central fan. That's what they're here to do.

The Mustangs toppled Grant 58 to 51 Thursday afternoon at Lincoln High's Johnson Gym and cleared the first hurdle to the Class C trophy. And team, coach and fans are determined to keep rolling.

"It feels good. It feels real good," a Mustang fan sputtered as he stumbled through a wall of bodies to congratulate the sweating players.

After the final buzzer, Mustang coach Bill Hellerich just grinned. "That's what we're here for, isn't it?" he said of the victory.

"We've been psyching people up for this game all week," said Raymond Central cheerleader, Diane Niday. But, she admitted, it wasn't difficult.

"Just being in it is exciting," said cheerleader Kristie Otto. We live so close that on other years we came and watched, but this year we're actually here."

This is Raymond Central's first state Class C tournament appearance in the school's brief, seven-year history. "It makes me think our school is really something," said Sandy Fricke, trying to catch her breath. "I'm a senior and I'm just glad I got to be a part of it."

Anyone driving to Lincoln Thursday morning from up Raymond way would most likely have noticed the Mustang caravan. About half the population of Ceresco, Valparaiso, Raymond, Davy and Agnew followed five Raymond Central school buses to Lincoln.

"That's one of the fascinating things about watching these Class C and D games," a veteran security guard said. "Smaller communities really back their teams to the hilt."

For example, when Raymond Central overtook its opponents in the third quarter, the crowd let out a deafening roar that shook the steel beams in Johnson Gym.

Grant fans seemed just as loyal, but slightly less enthused, maybe because their team is a fairly familiar name on the tournament roster.

First Degree Murder Convictions Upheld

By United Press International
The State Supreme Court Thursday upheld the first degree murder convictions of two men which resulted from the death of John R. Wisotzky of Omaha on Feb. 17, 1973.

Leroy Montgomery and Ladie Dittich were charged with first degree murder in that they killed Wisotzky while committing another crime — robbery.

The Douglas County District Court found them guilty and sentenced each to life imprisonment.

Wisotzky's body was found in his car along the Interstate in Omaha.

According to testimony, the man's car had been run off the highway and he was beaten with fists and a tire iron, then stabbed with a bayonet. His billfold was taken.

The Supreme Court also upheld the validity of a law which allows vehicles to be seized and ownership terminated if the vehicle was used to transport contraband.

The court reached its validity decision in a cast involving the seizure and sale of a car by Beatrice police. Marijuana had been found in the car.

According to the court, the car was owned by Donald R. Ruyle.

Judge Lawrence Clinton dissented, however, saying the amount of marijuana was very small and "there was no evidence that the owner was dealing in drugs."

In other cases the Supreme Court:

- Affirmed a decision of the Seward County District Court to dismiss a damage suit filed by Don Anstine against Rex Briggs.
- Reversed and remanded for further proceedings by the Boone County District Court an automobile injury suit filed by Henry Niemeyer against William Tichota.
- Affirmed the Fillmore County District Court's decision on the terms of a divorce decree issued by Neuloh and Ernest Seybold.
- Affirmed the Colfax County District Court's judgment in favor of Robert J. Blum in an injury suit filed against Wilda Brichacek.
- Agreed with the Howard County District Court's dismissal of an injury suit filed by Mary Kay Miller against La Moine C. Arenas.

Obscenity Ruling Affirmed

By United Press International
The Nebraska Supreme Court said Thursday state obscenity laws meet criteria handed down recently by the U.S. Supreme Court.

In so ruling, the court for a second time upheld a finding by the Douglas County District Court that films shown at the Little Art Theater in Omaha were obscene.

However, the decision on the status of Nebraska law wasn't unanimous among the seven judges.

Judges Hale McCown and Lawrence Clinton said the other five judges, in finding Nebraska's laws in compliance with U.S. Supreme Court standards set forth in a California case, were stretching their powers.

Returned by U.S. Court
The State Supreme Court, a year ago last month, ruled the Little Art films were obscene. The case was appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court only to be returned for further consideration in light of the California decision.

Clinton said in dissenting if the Nebraska court is to comply with the standards set forth in the California case "we cannot, as Judge McCown correctly notes, merely construe our statute, we must rewrite it."

It is at that point, the two dissenters contend, the majority oversteps constitutional authority.

"Legislative Domain"
"If we are to do that we violate the principle of separation of powers of our own constitution by a completely unwarranted intrusion into the legislative domain," Clinton said.

The true remedy, Clinton said, is for the Legislature to rework the law and not the court. A bill to do just that is pending in this year's session of the Legislature.

Supporters of the measure contend it would put Nebraska into compliance with U.S. Supreme Court rulings.

Clinton, however, also said the situation the Nebraska court found itself in was not of its own making.

"Unwise Intrusion"
"I deplore what I believe to be the unwelcome intrusion by the Supreme Court of the United States into the areas historically within the police powers of the state," he said.

McCown, in his dissenting opinion, said Nebraska's law "is clearly unconstitutional" in light of the California case, which said obscenity laws had to state clearly the standards under which obscenity determinations would be made.

"The fact that the films here might well have been obscene under virtually any valid statute cannot breathe constitutional life into an otherwise invalid statute," McCown said.

Left standing by the second ruling was the original penalty imposed by the district court of a fine of $1,000 for each of four films challenged.

SENATORS RECEIVE REPORT

A report which urges support for the U.S. Supreme Court's 1973 decision legalizing abortion — and which was compiled, edited and published locally by the Lincoln chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) — has been submitted to the U.S. Senate's Constitutional Amendments Subcommittee.

Chaired by Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), the subcommittee has pending a proposal by Sen. James L. Buckley (R-N.Y.) which would amend the Constitution to extend to an embryo rights equal to those of a living human being.

Such an amendment would, in effect, overturn the Supreme Court ruling which struck down most anti-abortion laws.

The report, entitled "True Love — A Wanted Child," was presented as representative of NOW's position.

Factual data, a history of abortion laws — including the Supreme Court decision — and a listing of proponents and opponents are contained in the 49-page, documented report.

Copies of the booklet are available for $1.25 from Ms. Shirley Linderholm, 2330 No. 74th St., Lincoln.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very successful and highly respected businessman. We have two sons who are planning to follow in their father's footsteps. The problem: Our name.

It has been in the newspapers often over the years because someone with the same name as ours has been involved in some terrible scandals. In fact he was found guilty of a crime and served time in a federal penitentiary. Wherever we go we are asked if we are related to this infamous character, because he has a brother who is in the same business as my husband.

We say no, which is true, but it still bothers us. At this stage of my husband's life, he doesn't want to change his name. But what do you think about our sons changing theirs? They love their father and wouldn't want to hurt him, but their lives would be much less complicated if they didn't have to explain that they are NOT related to "so-and-so." (and how about people who think we are — but never ask?)

VICTIMIZED IN N.Y.

DEAR VICTIMIZED: The unfortunate coincidence of having the same name as one who has sullied it is a widely shared experience. However, it carries no real stigma, because intelligent, fair-minded people judge a man by his own performance. And those who don't, deserve to be ignored.

DEAR ABBY: I am 26, not bad looking, have a college degree, and a very good job. However, I have a serious problem. Due to an accident, I have trouble controlling my bladder. During the daytime I control it by going to the restroom often, but I cannot control it at night.

Because of my bed-wetting, I probably never will marry unless I find a girl who has the same problem. It isn't easy to find such a girl because she probably would be too embarrassed to admit it.

How can I meet girls about my age who also wet the bed? If they wrote to you, we could correspond. I promise not to rush into marriage; I would be very cautious and be sure we loved each other first. Thank you.

WANTS TO MARRY

DEAR WANTS: Instead of looking for a girl with the same problem, look for a girl who qualifies in every other way, then deal with the problem later. A possible solution is the "wet alarm," which awakens you during the night and helps you to keep dry. Another, twin beds.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who is considered quite popular. (I am not bragging, but people tell me I am very pretty, and I know I have a good figure.)

My problem is that I don't want to damage my reputation which is okay, but it's getting tougher to keep it that way. You see, when a fellow takes me to a show or some place nice and spends his hard-earned money on me, I feel that I can't turn him down when he wants to park and make out.

I don't go too far, Abby, but afterwards I feel so cheap. Is this wrong when I know when to stop?

CANDY

DEAR CANDY: When a fellow asks you out, all he is entitled to is your company. And unless you want to risk your hard-earned reputation, don't feel obligated to give a fellow his hard-earned money's worth. YOU may know when to stop, but he may insist on calling the signals.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Cost Has Increased

The cost of hospital care has increased at an average of 8.5% per year for the past two decades from $16.77 per patient per day in 1950 to $81.01 by 1970. The rise in costs is due largely to the greater number of full-time hospital personnel and the introduction of highly complex potentially life-saving machinery.

Skin Fresheners Remove Makeup

Skin fresheners are useful for quick removal of makeup and between-time cleansing. Astringents have a higher content of alcohol than fresheners, and may contain a number of additional ingredients.

In a book prepared in consultation with a committee on health and cosmetics, the point is made that "although astringents are usually promoted for oily skin, both fresheners and astringents may be used effectively for other types of skin as well."

Threatened Railroad Plays Key Role In Economy Of Isolated Valley

Lackawaxen, Pa. (AP) — For almost 100 years, railroading has played a key role in the economy of this isolated valley. Today, a 26-mile spur line links the little-known towns of Lackawaxen, White Mills, Honesdale and Hawley.

Tomorrow, it may be gone.

The line is one of dozens the federal government wants to abandon in its effort to reorganize the financially stricken railroads in the Northeast. To planners, the spur is an excess piece of track that's too unprofitable to operate.

But people here, as expected, don't see it that way. They talk about it a lot.

"When you talk about taking away our railroad, you are talking about people's lives," says Thomas Sheridan, president of the Hawley Bank. "It's a hard, cold matter of dollars. We're dead if we lose the railroad."

Lightly Populated

The valley opens onto the upper Delaware River at Lackawaxen. It runs westward through the Pocono Mountains to Honesdale, seat of Wayne County. It's a pastoral and lightly populated region where dairy farming thrives and a handful of factories flank the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad spur.

Shut down the spur, and the 2,500 freight cars that served the valley last year would disappear. Trucks would take their place.

more trucks would have to travel the valley's main road to keep the materials flowing.

"We'd never have come here if it weren't for that railroad," says Lashway.

Dairy farming is the biggest single industry in the valley, which has a total population of about 6,000. Without the railroad, the farmers say they will be muscled out of the retail market. They claim that the railroad can deliver feed for the animals at competitive prices; that trucks can't.

The dairy farmers can't grow their own feed crops because of the area's rocky soil.

Depressed Economy

The valley historically has had a depressed economy. There was a constant drain on the work force. Young people couldn't find jobs and migrated.

Then 10 years ago, light industry moved in — three lumber yards, a plastics manufacturer, grain mills, a paper plant, and a small company that makes baseball bats.

"When I got out of the Army they told me I was crazy to come back here," says bank president Sheridan. "But I did and it looked like we were starting to have a future."

"Here comes a time when the prospects looked brighter than they have in 20 years, and now they want to regress us."

TV Viewers To See New Carol Burnett

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television viewers will be able to see a new Carol Burnett in "6 RMS RIV VU" Sunday. It's her first nonmusical special and she plays a reluctant adulteress.

The show is strictly for laughs, of course, but it could offer evidence of the new candor on television. Carol and Alan Alda play a wife and husband, although not each other's. Slightly acquainted, they meet while inspecting an apartment rental — hence the want-ad title of the play.

What happens is not exactly "Last Tango in Paris," but Carol does succumb to Alda's advances. Both suffer guilt feelings when they reappear with their mates in the third act.

"6 RMS RIV VU" was a medium hit on Broadway a season ago, and Carol chose to do it as a stage play.

"Ordinarily a show like this would have been done as a Movie of the Week on film, or like a Playhouse 90 on tape," she said. "Alan and I decided we might as well stick our necks out and do it in the way it was originally presented — in a theater before an audience."

Tech College Budgets Increased

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer
The Legislature's Appropriations Committee Thursday wrapped up its work on 1974-75 operational budget recommendations, approving a number of additions for technical community college activities.

Sent to the floor were three bills which complete the operational appropriations process for the coming year.

The committee will meet again Friday to complete its work on the 1974-75 capital construction budget bill and the 1973-74 deficit appropriation measure.

Increase OK'd
The newly created Metropolitan Technical Community College Area received a general fund increase of $334,396 above the combined totals previously approved for the Eastern and Omaha areas.

Eastern and Omaha were merged into the new Metropolitan Area by the Legislature. After their merger, the districts requested a combined general fund budget of nearly $5.4 million as compared to their earlier requests totaling $3.6 million. The total amended committee recommendation will be $3.3 million.

Most of the addition, some $222,117, is ticketed for the purchase of equipment from the Omaha School District. A $56,782 general fund addition was approved for the Mid-Plains Area, but the committee refused to approve a requested addition for the Central Nebraska Area.

Land Sale Suggested
Committee discussion leading to the latter decision suggested that Central sell the 43 acres of land it is purchasing in Hall County if it wants additional operating funds for 1974-75. A land purchase of that size indicates that the area plans to build another institution, Sen. Robert Clark of Sidney said.

"And we need another college like we need four holes in our head," he said.

The total technical community college budget for 13 institutions will reach about $20 million. At the suggestion of Clark, the committee decided to appropriate by areas, but earmark specific funding for each institution.

10 Scholarships Each
The committee also approved a $27,000 appropriation to fund 10 academic tuition remission scholarships at each institution.

Beginning work on its deficit appropriations bill for the current fiscal year, the committee approved the transfer of $354,851 in general fund support for the Central Area and $251,341 for the Western Nebraska Area.

Another $339,959 in surplus general fund money — which resulted from larger local property tax collections than anticipated in the budget bill for the current year — will be distributed among the areas on a formula which gives 50% weight to their numbers of students.

In other action, Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln won approval for an $11,300 addition to fund women's athletic programs at the four state colleges at Kearney, Wayne, Caddo and Peru.

Drug Education
Sen. Dave Stahmer of Omaha gained committee assent to add $25,000 to the Department of Education budget to purchase graphic materials to show public school students "the deleterious effects of smoking, alcohol and drugs."

A $33,057 appropriation in the Penal Complex budget was earmarked to develop a chemical dependency rehabilitation program.

And the committee agreed to propose an accelerated capital construction bill allowing commitment of funds prior to July 1 for a limited number of projects.

Among them are the centralized utilities complex at the University of Nebraska at Omaha and the purchase of property for the Western Nebraska Veterans Facility at Scottsbluff.

Bankers Back Curtis Proposal To Aid Feeders
Omaha (AP) — The Executive Council of the Nebraska Bankers Association Thursday endorsed efforts by Sen. Carl Curtis to obtain disaster assistance for cattle feeders.

Meeting at Omaha, the council unanimously approved and sent to Curtis a resolution urging the U.S. Department of Agriculture to set up an emergency loan program for cattlemen.

The council said Curtis has proposed such a plan before Senate Agriculture Committee hearings in Washington on cattle industry problems.

The resolution says losses because of "massive market dislocations in prices of cattle and feed" are forcing many cattlemen out of business.

M. C. Bonham, president of the First National Bank of York and a member of the council, said that at current cattle prices the feeder is losing $150 a head and more.

"If he has 500 to 1,000 head of cattle, it's probably the end of the road for him unless he gets some help," he said.

Exon Axes J. Neihardt Center Bill
By United Press International
Gov. J. J. Exon Thursday vetoed a bill which would have created a John G. Neihardt Center at Bancroft in memory of Nebraska's late poet laureate, who died last year.

Exon said it was "with regret but in the interests of fiscal responsibility and prevention of tax increases" that he decided to veto the bill, LB855.

The measure would have given the State Historical Society authority to acquire title in all personal and real property now held by the Neihardt Foundation.

In addition, it authorized an appropriation of $200,000 to construct a center.

Exon said the idea was fitting, but wasn't properly timed because of the decision of the Legislature to refuse to increase the state income tax rate from the current 11% to the 13% he wanted.

"It is entirely fitting that Nebraska consider, at some appropriate time, a Neihardt center," the governor said. "Were the money available, this would be an appropriate time."

However, he said, "In my opinion, that is not the case today because I cannot anticipate piecemeal legislative spending or what your (the legislature's) eventual budget will be."

The veto letter will be presented officially to the Legislature when it meets again next Monday. At that time it will be up to Sen. Blair Richendifer of Walthill, the bill's sponsor, to decide whether he wants to attempt an override.

State Health Planning Agency Said One Of Best In Nation
By The Associated Press
A team of federal Health Education and Welfare officials has rated Nebraska's Comprehensive Health Planning Agency one of the best in the nation.

In the report released Thursday, there were some negative remarks including one comment that said the division's status as a part of the State Health Department hinders it in implementing controversial or major changes in the activities of other health agencies.

The comprehensive health planning division is designed to study Nebraska's health care needs and figure out ways of meeting them.

Mrs. Calista Cooper Hughes, director, said that her office had found that a lack of preventive health care was the most critical problem in Nebraska. She said that only two counties have viable public health departments and one county was developing a department. She said she hoped that all counties would join with other counties or form their own public health departments within two years. She said that patients are too often in advanced stages of their diseases by the time they ask for treatment and more preventive medicine should be practiced.

She said that Nebraska had a serious shortage of medical personnel including nurses, psychiatrists, psychologists, public health nurses, physicians assistants, doctors and technicians.

Mrs. Hughes said that the office was beginning work on a list of medical manpower needs for the state.

Nebraska has only two physicians' assistants and could use 200, she said.

Nebraska has an adequate number if not too many hospitals and nursing homes, she said, adding that the state should work to modernize and replace the facilities available.

Uniform Liquor Price Proposal Is 'Questionable'
Atty. Gen. Clarence A.H. Meyer issued an opinion Thursday that said a legislative proposal to set uniform liquor prices across the state was questionable, but not definitely unconstitutional.

The bill requires wholesalers to charge retailers a uniform $1.50 a case transportation charge, regardless of how far the liquor is transported.

The opinion, written for Meyer by Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert Camp, said the courts have treated the liquor industry differently than other industries, but it said that compelling the wholesaler to absorb transportation costs offered no substantial benefit to the public.

Other sections of the bill, not questioned in the opinion, set a uniform 15% mark up by retailers and limit counties to one liquor license for each 1,000 people.

Ex-Officers Indicted
New York (UPI) — Four former members of the New York City Police Special Investigating Unit were indicted on charges of shaking down narcotics suspects for bribes in return for their freedom.

The veto letter will be presented officially to the Legislature when it meets again next Monday. At that time it will be up to Sen. Blair Richendifer of Walthill, the bill's sponsor, to decide whether he wants to attempt an override.

Exon said the idea was fitting, but wasn't properly timed because of the decision of the Legislature to refuse to increase the state income tax rate from the current 11% to the 13% he wanted.

Bankers Back Curtis Proposal To Aid Feeders
Omaha (AP) — The Executive Council of the Nebraska Bankers Association Thursday endorsed efforts by Sen. Carl Curtis to obtain disaster assistance for cattle feeders.

Meeting at Omaha, the council unanimously approved and sent to Curtis a resolution urging the U.S. Department of Agriculture to set up an emergency loan program for cattlemen.

The council said Curtis has proposed such a plan before Senate Agriculture Committee hearings in Washington on cattle industry problems.

The resolution says losses because of "massive market dislocations in prices of cattle and feed" are forcing many cattlemen out of business.

M. C. Bonham, president of the First National Bank of York and a member of the council, said that at current cattle prices the feeder is losing $150 a head and more.

Relative Fizzle

New York (AP) — The stock market was able to muster only a faint welcome Thursday for the apparent end of the Arab oil embargo.

Prices made two attempts at rallies during the session, but fell back each time, finishing mixed.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials wound up 1.88 points on the minus side at 889.78, but advancing issues outdistanced declines by 7 to 6 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume was an active 19.77 million shares, reflecting in large part a surge of trading in the early hours of the session.

Brokers said enthusiasm on Wall Street was held down by the absence of any official confirmation of press reports that Arab oil ministers had agreed on Wednesday to lift their ban on shipments to the United States.

In addition, they said, the market appeared to have pretty well digested the news in advance with its recent gains.

Travel and other oil-related issues again took a conspicuous place on the Big Board's most-active list. Ramada Inns, the volume leader, rose 1/4 to 8 1/2, and Howard Johnson, in second place, was up 3/4 at 12 1/4.

General Motors rose 1/4 to 54 1/4 and Ford during the session at a 1974 high of 55 1/4.

Among the sharper gainers were Pizza Hut, a roadside restaurant operator, up 1/2 to 23 1/4, and Eurland, a maker of refrigerators for cars, up 1/2 to 24 1/4.

VCA Corp. was up 1/4 at 18 1/4, and the company's president, R. E. Ethyl, Corp. said it had bought the common shares at $18.50 each and up to 60,000 of the preferred at $19. Ethyl was down 1/4 to 24 1/4.

Marley Co. gained 3/4 to 42 1/4 after a 3-point rise Wednesday. Rules proposed by the Environmental Protection Agency Wednesday apparently would require power companies to make extensive investments in the use of water cooling towers, Marley makes.

Arapahoe, Pierce Stun Palmyra, West Point

By KEN HAMBLETON

Star Sports Writer
Arapahoe and Pierce registered upsets in the class C quarterfinals in Lincoln High's Johnson Gym Thursday night as Arapahoe stunned Palmyra, 63-58 in the nightcap and Pierce surprised West Point, 57-53.

Arapahoe hit 12 of its 14 free throws in the final minute and a half to card the major upset of the evening.

Arapahoe led the entire second half except for a brief two-minute spell early in the third quarter.

Doug Monter led the Arapahoe Warriors' scorers with 17 points and Jim Weber added 15 in the winning cause.

Doug Cheney paced the Panthers with 20 points and senior center Randy Kemkes pumped in 14.

Twenty-four turnovers and 15 personal fouls kept Palmyra from drawing closer than two points of the Warriors for the better part of the second half. Palmyra ended its season at 22-3 while Arapahoe boosted its record to 17-6 in the first round victory.

In the night's first game Pierce utilized an effective full court press to stymie favored West Point and earn a semifinal berth against Arapahoe.

West Point rallied from a six-point deficit at the end of the third quarter and closed the margin to 52-51 with eight seconds left in the game on a basket by senior Randy Thorman, who was fouled in the process of making the shot.

Thorman missed his free throw following the shot leaving the W-P Cadets one point short.

But Pierce iced the game in the following eight seconds as West Point committed three fouls, one technical and two turnovers. Pierce's Gene Schleppenbach and Neil Schultz hit only two of the charity opportunities but it was all they needed for the win.

Dennis Hahn and Schleppenbach each carded 18 points for Pierce while Lennie Adams led the Cadets with 16.

Hahn led the first half scoring with 14 points hitting six for six from the field and two for four from the line, while reserve forward Lowell Nelson paced W-P with 12 tallies.

Pierce, leading in the first quarter 17-11 held off a late surge by the Cadets as they closed the score to 26-24 with one minute left in the half.

But unanswered buckets by Hahn and Scott Settje helped Pierce maintain a 30-24 half-time lead.

The game was the second time the two teams had met with Pierce winning by two points the first time in the Randolph Holiday tourney.

West Point utilized a man-to-man defense throughout the game but it seemed to have little effect on the poised shooting of guards Scott Settje and Neil Schultz as they were able to either hit the long 20-footers or set up the big men underneath. Adams averaged 20.6 points and 18 rebounds per game for the season.

Class B

At Pershing Auditorium

Crete (19-3) v. Lexington (20-2), Noon — Neither team was overly impressive in its opening-round assignment. Crete plays good pressure defense, but Lex's Pat Hodges can crack any type of pressure and is the big difference between the two.

Lincoln Pius X (18-5) v. Ord (22-0), 7 p.m. — Ord coach Ken Trubey is most impressed with Pius X's physical ability. Balance will play a big role if Pius X can at least reduce the effectiveness of Tim Hoppes and Doug Wolf.

Class C

At NU Coliseum

Howells (24-1) v. Raymond Central (19-5), 2 p.m. — Based on the way each fared in the opening round, Howells is unquestionably the most logical choice. But Raymond Central may have been experiencing an old-fashioned case of the tournament jitters.

Pierce (15-6) v. Arapahoe (17-6), 9 p.m. — Both teams upended our first-round picks in the continual process of Class C mystique. We'll take Pierce after the way it handled West Point.

Class D

At Pershing Auditorium

Palmer (20-1) v. Ewing (17-5) 2 p.m. — Palmer started slow, but finished fast against Trenton and is ready to complete its tailor-made route to the finals.

Paxton (21-4) v. Falls City Sacred Heart (18-4), 9 p.m. — Having snapped Hampton's 51-game winning streak, Paxton now must concentrate on slowing Sacred Heart's fast-breaking Tim Hoy and Mark May, a pair of 10.5 track sprinters.

A half-court zone-trap defense kept Lincoln East in the game until its offense finally broke the game open.

The Class A top-seeded Spartans struggled past unseeded Beatrice, 43-28, Thursday night at the Nebraska Coliseum in the State Basketball Tournament's first round.

The determined Orangemen finished their season at 7-14, while East advanced to the semifinals with a 17-2 record.

The Spartans broke the air-filled game open in the third quarter by outscoring upstart Beatrice, 13-4.

Although it may appear that the game was purposely slowed down, it wasn't the case as both teams committed continuous errors and were plagued by poor shooting.

East took a 5-0 lead at the start of the game as Beatrice was very deliberate and cautious.

However, the Orangemen's patience was rewarded as they held the Spartans scoreless the last two minutes of the quarter and came within one point, 7-6.

In the second quarter, Beatrice went ahead, 8-7 with 7:24 left and again with 2:18 remaining, 14-13.

East then scored six straight points to lead at the half, 19-14.

The Orangemen made only five of 21 field goals and the Spartans eight of 20 in the first half. Beatrice had better luck at the free throw line by making four of seven.

East could manage but three of eight free throws at the same time. Both teams had eight turnovers at the half.

The turning point in the game came in the third quarter, according to Nannen.

"When Hedberg (East's 6-8 Curt Hedberg) made three straight baskets, from about 15 feet out, we couldn't do anything about it," he noted.

"We didn't want to give up any shots under the basket to East's big players, so we conceded the 15-foot shots and East took advantage of it."

"One has to give Beatrice a lot of credit," East Coach Paul Forch said. "We knew Beatrice was a good team, especially on defense."

The Spartans started out in a man-for-man defense, but soon switched to their zone-trap.

"We wanted to speed up the game and force Beatrice to move the ball around more, so we went to the zone-trap," Forch explained.

"Their game seemed to be a very grinding one and anything but smooth."

Beatrice Coach Neil Nannen said one part of his team's game was alright, but another wasn't. "Our defense was good enough, but not our offense," he offered.

"The players tried real hard, however we just couldn't get the ball to the open player soon enough."

Nannen recalled that East's zone-trap has given the Orangemen trouble in the past.

"We've always been able to see the open player, but East has so much size we have trouble getting the ball to him," Nannen said.

Paxton, Irish Topple Foes

By RANDY EICKHOFF

Star Sports Writer

Only one person in the crowd-packed Lincoln East gym seemed to think the championship game for the Class D State Basketball Tournament wasn't played between Paxton and Hampton Thursday night — Paxton coach Richard Banks.

Paxton upset No. 1-ranked Hampton 88-82 in the opening game of the night bracket while Falls City Sacred Heart dropped Adams, 77-69.

Paxton, powered by Don Peck who set a career and school scoring record of 41 points, snapped a 51-game winning streak by Hampton. If the Hawks had won, they would have tied the all-time state high school mark of 52 set by Atkinson-St. Joseph in 1946-48.

"We're proud of them," Hampton coach Jerry Eickhoff said of his players. "They did a whale of a job in the 51 games they won." When asked if he thought the championship game was played Thursday night, he replied: "What do you think?"

"The championship game will be played Saturday night," Banks said. "But we just played the toughest opponent we've faced all year long. At first, I was a little reluctant to play Hampton right off, but now that they're behind us, we won't have to look forward to playing them."

The stage was set for the upset at halftime when Paxton had a two-point edge, 49-47. That was the only time this year Hampton had ever trailed at half.

The Paxton-Hampton game also set two tournament Class D records — most points by both teams (168, snapped old record set in 1966 of 157 by Sprague-Martell and McCook Red Willow), and most points by loser in one game (82 by Hampton broke Sprague-Martell's mark of 72).

Adams, down by 16 points at 6:28 of the third quarter, 40-24, rallied behind freshman Jeff Veerhusen to almost pull the victory away from the Irish.

With 1:11 left in the game, Duane Ideus was faced with a one-and-one situation that would have tied the score at 69-69 but missed. A three-point play by Joe Fieskoski at 1:02 helped the Falls City Sacred Heart cause, but a technical called on Adams' bench with only 44 seconds left in the game iced the cake for the Irish.

Fieskoski sank the awarded free throw and Mark May the field goal at 34 seconds, to put the game safely out of reach.

"When they (Adams) went to a man-to-man defense it kind of shook us up," Irish coach Bill Jenkins said. "It took us a while to regain our composure. But we were switching from a 2-1-2 zone to a 1-3-1 that seemed to bother them and when we went to a man-to-man there at the last, it seemed to stop their rush."

"I have to give our fast break a lot of credit," he added. "We like to run. Tim Hoy and Mark May each have 10.5 speed in the 100 (yard dash) so we're real hard to catch on that break. But we made too many mistakes tonight."

"Tomorrow when we play Paxton, we're just going to have to let Peck have his points and try to shut the others off," he said. "That should be a good game."

Paxton and Falls City Sacred Heart meet in the semifinal game at Pershing Auditorium at 9 p.m.

Lincoln Pius X, Ord Win Close Tilts

By RANDY YORK

Prep Sports Writer

"What is it the Greeks say?" asked Ord basketball coach Ken Trubey Thursday night, answering: "I think it's something about all good things have to come to an end."

Trubey — whose Chanticleers are Nebraska's only remaining unbeaten prep basketball team — was forced to entertain some negative thoughts Thursday night at Pershing Auditorium.

Unheralded Alliance pressed Ord within two points for 27 minutes before the Chants stepped on the accelerator in the last five for a much-tougher-than-the-score-indicates 73-58 win over the spunky Western Nebraskans.

Lincoln Pius X, which qualified for Friday's 7 p.m. semifinals against Ord, experienced equally uneasy moments in its opening-round contest Thursday night.

The Thunderbolts, leading comfortably through 3½ quarters, called on guard Pat Anderson to lead them from the brink of potential disaster to a 55-52 win over late-starting West Point Central Catholic.

"They got hot and we stood around," Pius X coach Don Kelley lamented, after his team watched a 9-point lead (47-38) evaporate to only one (49-48) with 1:13 remaining.

"We let the pressure get to us," admitted Kelley. "It wasn't our intention to get too conservative toward the end there, but we sure did. Our kids decided to take the air out of the ball and they almost paid for it."

But Anderson, a 6-2 senior guard, came to the rescue with a 10-foot jumper which gave the 'Bolts some breathing room at 51-48. He also canned a pair of free throws with 13 seconds remaining to ice the victory at 53-48.

Central Catholic, jittery at the outset, warmed up to its second half challenge behind the fourth quarter shooting of 6-0 junior Glen Randal.

He fired in his first five shots of the fourth quarter to trigger Central Catholic's impressive flurry. He added another fielder and a pair of clutch free throws in the hectic windup for 14 fourth quarter points to finish with 17.

Jim Hamersky, who retrieved a key rebound off a missed Anderson free throw with 19 seconds remaining and Pius X nursing a 3-point lead, led the 'Bolts offensive effort with 18 points.

The Ord-Alliance nightcap featured more offensive fireworks. The underdog Bulldogs (10-13) threatened the mighty Chants at 57-55 with 5:46 remaining before cooling off down the stretch.

Tim Dubas, a 5-11 senior substitute guard, bailed Ord out of the precarious jam. He hit two straight long-range baskets to give the Chants a more comfortable 61-55 advantage, then added four straight free throws in a stretch which saw Ord score 10 points within 2½ minutes.

"We were certainly in a ball game," acknowledged Trubey. "I told our kids that Alliance was big and strong and had beaten Kearney. We're going to have to play basketball or we'll be on the outside, looking in."

"I was very impressed with Alliance," added Trubey. "They were a little quicker out front than we thought they'd be. They're well-coached. They get a lot of mileage out of their kids."

Ord's well known 1-2 punch of Tim Hoppes and Doug Wolf again clicked with efficiency, although both standouts were saddled with foul trouble in both halves.

Hoppes finished with 24 points, hitting 10 of 20 field goals and 4 of 5 free throws. Wolf contributed 22 points on an 11-for-20 field goal performance.

Alliance's offensive answer to the talented Ord pair was 6-1 Kyle Hand, who notched 23 points. He hit 8 of 23 shots and added 7 of 10 free throws.

"I wouldn't trade this bunch for anyone," remarked first-year Alliance coach George Schamber of his team's gallant upset bid. "We played as hard as we could, but just couldn't get the ball to drop toward the end. We only lose two people next year. We intend to be back."

Bellevue Hits North, 55-44

By STEVE GILLISPIE

Star Sports Writer

Holding a team scoreless for almost eight minutes will usually win most basketball games.

Bellevue did just that Thursday night in the Nebraska Coliseum to beat Omaha North, 55-44, in a Class A first-round game.

The fourth-seeded Chieftans, now 17-5, will play Lincoln East at 7 p.m. Friday in a semifinal game.

The Vikings ended their season at 12-9 after eliminating No. 1 rated and previously unbeaten Creighton Prep in the district finals.

Bellevue kept North from scoring from 4:03 left in the second quarter to 4:36 remaining in the third quarter.

At the same time the Chieftans scored 10 points to break from a 17-16 edge, but that wasn't all.

After North's Nate Phillips scored a basket at the 4:36 mark, Bellevue rolled off another 10 points before the Vikings took the score again.

That gave the Chieftans a commanding 37-18 margin with 7:11 remaining in the game.

Up until that point Bellevue held slim leads, while both teams suffered from poor shooting.

In the first half North only managed six of 27 field goals, and Bellevue didn't do much better at eight of 23. Both teams had 16 turnovers each in the second half.

Kansas Nips CU, 55-54

Tulsa, Okla. (UPI) — Forward Roger Morningstar scored with 45 seconds remaining and the Kansas Jayhawks successfully stalled away the final 35 seconds Thursday night to down Creighton, 55-54, in the opening game of the NCAA Midwest Regional Tournament.

The 10th-ranked Jayhawks trailed much of the game, although neither club could gain more than a six-point lead. But in the final two minutes, the lead changed hands six times.

With 45 seconds left, Morningstar, who led all scorers with 18 points, hit a bucket to put Kansas back in front.

Creighton quickly committed an offensive foul which turned the ball back to Kansas and the Jayhawks began to stall. Since Creighton had made enough fouls to send Kansas into the one-and-one situation, it did the Bluejays no good to commit fouls.

The Bluejays did succeed in producing a jump ball with 22 seconds remaining, but Kansas won the jump and held the ball until the end of the game.

Creighton led by three at the half, 33-30, the largest lead for either team in the opening half, and then scored the first three points of the second half to give the Bluejays the widest lead of the night.

Leaks Unlikely For '74 Play

Austin, Tex. (UPI) — Doctors who operated on the right knee of Roosevelt Leaks Thursday termed the surgery a success, but said it was unlikely the Texas Longhorn fullback could play next autumn.

Leaks, however, can sit out a year and still be eligible to finish out his college career in 1975.

"It was a good repair," said Longhorn doctor Paul Trickett of the operation. "It was a complete knee tear. The ligaments were completely separated and repaired with a transplant operation."

"We feel good about the repair and have high hopes he will have a good knee. But it will take some time for rehabilitation and we are not expecting him to play this fall."

Walton, the most publicized collegian since the days of Lew Alcindor, made the star-studded team for the third straight year. Thompson, often termed the best forward in the country and a sure-fire professional star, was voted on the first team for the second straight season, his junior year.

Adams Tops Scorers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Big Eight's official tabulation of statistics for the basketball season confirmed today that Alvan Adams, Oklahoma's sophomore sensation, was the top scorer in conference games.

Al Eberhard of Missouri was second, Scott Wedman of Colorado was second and Andy Hopson, Oklahoma State's jumping jack, led all the rebounders.

Adams scored 317 points in the 14 conference games, for a 22.6 average. Eberhard's was 21.7 and Wedman's 20.2.

It was the second straight rebounding championship for Hopson, who had 199 and an average of 14.2 a game. Eberhard's rebounding average was 12.4 and Adams had an 11.2.

Lon Kruger of Kansas State was the top man from the foul line, converting 64 of 72 free throws or 88.9 percentage. Steve Erwin of Nebraska was close behind at 86.7.

Oklahoma not only was the top scoring team in conference games. Four of its players took the first four spots in field goal accuracy.

Bob Pritchard hit 600 from the field for the Sooners. Ted Evans was 558, Mike McCurdy 537 and Adams 520.

Klaus Tosses No-Hitter

Longview, Texas — Nebraska Wesleyan University split a doubleheader with LeTourneau College here Thursday. NWU lost the first game 6-5, but Dan Klaus of NWU pitched a no-hitter in the second to secure a 8-0 Plainsmen win.

Klaus, in his first collegiate start, is a freshman from Beatrice.

In the first game, it was LeTourneau led, 4-3 going into the top of the seventh. Dave Loos opened with a double, then got to third on a throwing error. DeBoer, batting for himself as pitcher, singled to leftfield to drive in Loos. Stephenson singled DeBoer home, and NWU was ahead by one going into the bottom of the 7th.

NWU will meet Wylie College at Marshall, Tex., in a doubleheader Friday. Starting pitchers will be Able (2-0), and Jack Ball (1-0) for NWU.

Cowboys Garner Mat Lead

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Big Eight Conference champion Oklahoma State moved into a slight lead in the team race Thursday night in the 44th NCAA wrestling championships.

The Cowboys lost only two wrestlers in the opening two rounds and will have seven in Friday's quarterfinals. Oklahoma State has 20 team points. Big Ten Conference, runnerup Michigan, two-time defending champion Iowa State and Iowa appeared to have the best chance of catching Oklahoma State. Michigan stood fourth in the early team standings with 15 points but advanced six wrestlers.

Iowa State, seeking its fifth title in six years, and Big Ten champion Iowa, each advanced five wrestlers but suffered major setbacks in hopes of keeping the title in the state.

Iowa State's chances suffered a major jolt at 177 pounds when defending champion Rich Binek lost 6-5 to Kurt Blank of Ohio University. Blank scored three points in the final 35 seconds to win the match.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
